Charleston Ripped By Tornado; 25 Dead

REPORT 100 ARE INJURED

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 29.—(UP)—A tornado ripped across the Charleston today, taking a heavy toll of dead and injured and causing incalculable property damage. Digging into debris in torrential rains which followed the tornado, authorities predicted the death toll would be heavy. At least 25 were known dead and more than 100 injured. Find Bodies Many of the victims were Negroes. The twister struck along the waterfront mowing down frame structures and unroofing many buildings. It was reported that the mill of the Charleston Paper & Pulp Company was wrecked and an unknown number of employees had been trapped in the debris. Firemen used acetylene torches to cut through the wreckage. Electric power failed. Communications were disturbed. The storm swirled around the waterfront, skipped the business section, and then headed toward Sullivan's Island.

Charges Fly At Hearing

The name of J. W. (Joe) Rosenthal, Sacramento lobbyist, and A. H. Alexander was linked in testimony presented yesterday at the hearing being conducted in Los Angeles by the State Personnel board against Carl B. Sturzenacker, suspended chief of the State Division of lands, and Alexander, his assistant. The state employees are charged with misusing their offices in connection with tideland oil activities at Huntington Beach and Wilmington.

Thomas Stipp, geologist in charge of the Huntington Beach office of the division in 1935 and 1936, testified that on September 27, 1936, Alexander told him to tell C. W. Rood of the oil producing firm of McVicker and Rood to get in touch with Rosenthal at a hotel here.

Not Notified He delivered the message, Stipp testified, and four days later, he said, drilling operations started on an easement held by the company. "I had not been notified that a

AFI CARRIES NLRB FIGHT TO COURTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP)—The American Federation of Labor today carried to the U. S. Circuit court of appeals its fight with the National Labor Relations Board and Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, west coast CIO affiliate.

President William Green of the A. F. of L., through Federation Counsel Joseph A. Padway, asked the circuit court for the District of Columbia to reverse an NLRB decision giving Bridges' union sole bargaining rights for nearly 13,000 longshoremen in 31 Pacific coast ports.

New Contract The legal attack came only a few days after Bridges and representatives of the Waterfront Employers Association of the Pacific Coast had reached agreement on a new collective bargaining contract in accord with the board decision.

The A. F. of L. and its International Longshoremen's Association, from which Bridges' union seceded, asserted that the board's unprecedented certification order, setting up a geographical bargaining unit comprising the entire west coast was "contrary to the spirit, purpose and intent" of the Wagner act.

Bogus Money Ring Smashed

FRESNO, Cal., Sept. 29.—(UP)—Two men were held here today on suspicion of possessing equipment for the manufacture of counterfeit money. The men, Isaac Newby, 24, and Arthur Graham, 19, both of Reedley, were taken into custody by Reedley police last night. Officials said the men had the equipment in their possession when arrested.

Ham and Eggs On Hoof Stolen

HAYWARD, Cal., Sept. 29.—(UP)—Police sought to solve the theft of two large supplies of potential breakfast food today. Seraphine Machado revealed 70 dozen eggs had been stolen from a shed at his home. Then Attilio Bondoni, hog rancher, reported the disappearance of 100 little pigs.

U. S. SENDS AID TO STRICKEN AREA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Norman H. Davis, head of the Red Cross, advised President Roosevelt today that latest reports of the Charleston tornado showed: 25 bodies recovered, 340 persons injured, 30 city blocks damaged. Before conferring with Davis the President had ordered the navy, marine corps, army and other federal agencies to cooperate in rescue and rehabilitation work.

Fall From Train Fatal To Employee

RENO, Nev., Sept. 29.—(UP)—George R. Adcox, 35, Roseville, Calif., brakeman, died today of injuries suffered when he fell from a Southern Pacific freight train near the Donner Summit. A 500-ton "A. C." locomotive, one of the world's largest, roared over 50 miles of cleared tracks last night in a desperate effort to save Adcox's life. An ambulance met the locomotive in Reno and carried the injured man to a hospital. Adcox's skull was fractured.

CHINESE CLAIM VICTORIES IN BITTER BATTLE FOR HANKOW

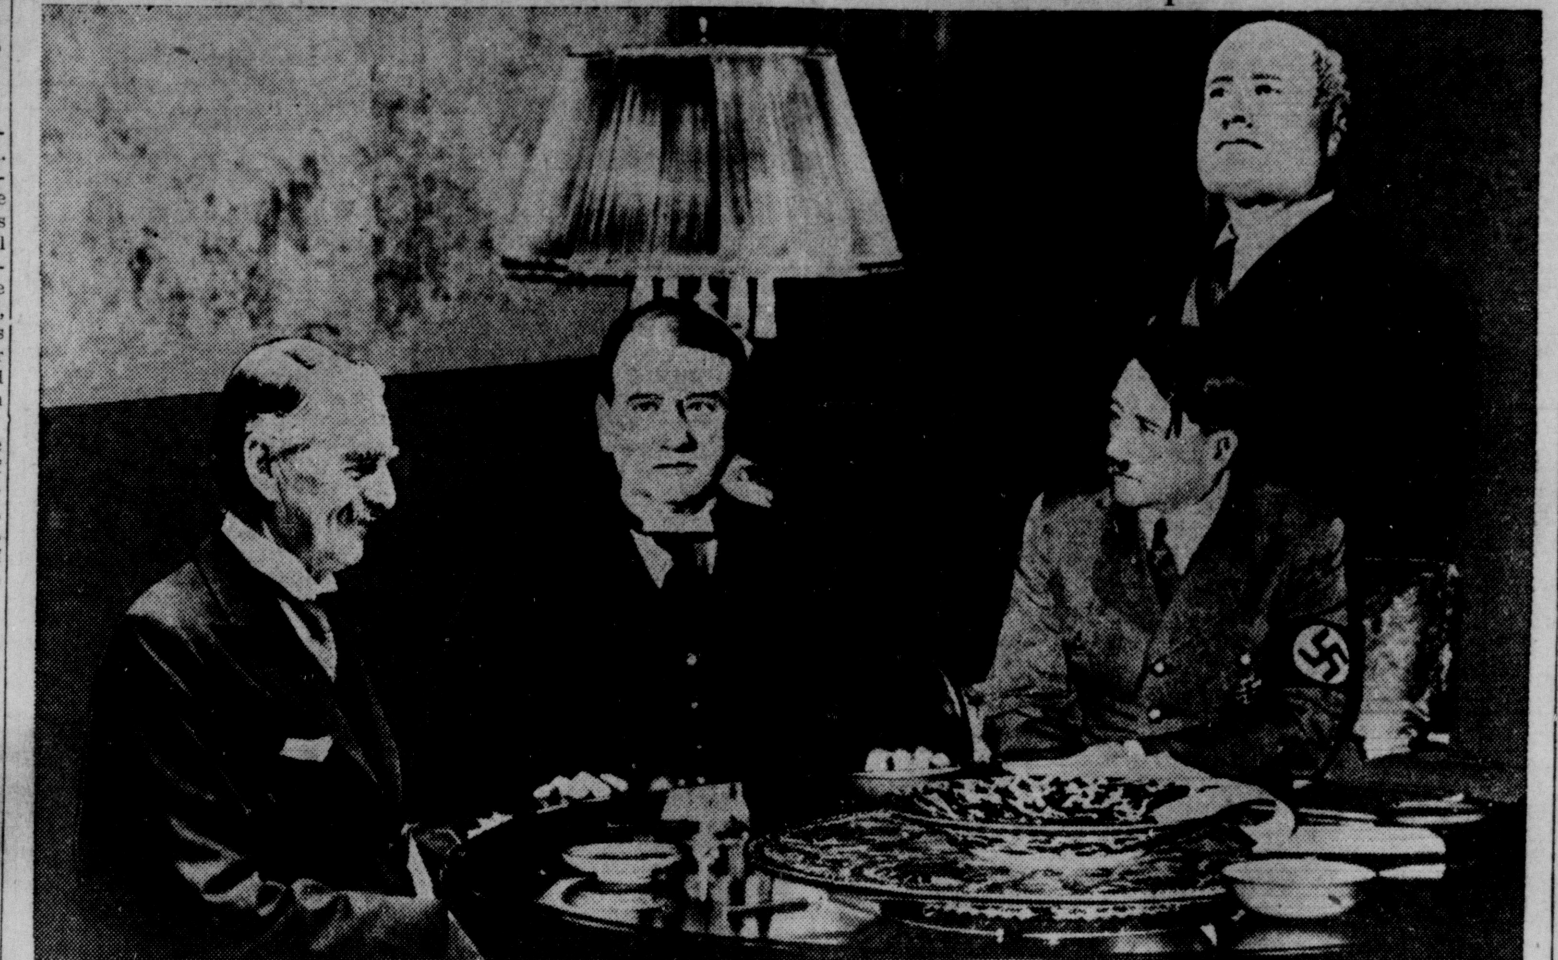

SHANGHAI, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Chinese forces under Gen. Li Tsung-Jen outflanked and defeated the crack Japanese 13th division under Prince Naruhiko northeast of Hankow, Chinese sources reported today.

The 13th division was expected to be the first to reach Hankow. Chinese claimed the victory was the most important since the battle for Taijichang.

Admit Defeat A Japanese spokesman admitted that two divisions of Chinese troops "penetrated" the Japanese lines, but claimed that strong Japanese columns from the north and south were surrounding the Chinese.

Gen. Li reported that his troops in a flanking maneuver caught almost the entire 13th Japanese division in a pincer movement near Shawo, 100 miles northeast of Hankow, in the Taipei mountains. The Japanese lines collapsed after a three day battle, Gen. Li reported, and Japanese troops fled, abandoning tanks, trucks and ar-

In Their Hands Rests the Fate of Europe

Upon the shoulders of the four men pictured above rests the fate of Europe, and perhaps the entire world. Today, in a last minute attempt to avert war, they are conferring at Munich. Unprecedented in the annals of history, the leaders of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany meet, hoping to settle a problem that has placed Europe on the very brink of disaster. In the above photographic-artist's conception of how the four appeared at the conference, are, from left to right: Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain; Premier Edouard Daladier of France; Adolf Hitler, and Prime Minister Benito Mussolini of Italy.

HEAD OF AMERICAN NAZI BUND ACCUSED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP)—John C. Metcalfe, investigator for the house committee investigating un-American activities, testified today that Fritz Kuhn, German-American Bund leader, claimed Kuhn told him he had a "special arrangement" with Chancellor Adolf Hitler concerning the German diplomats in the United States.

Secret Arrangement Kuhn said the "arrangement" included a secret relationship between the Bund and Dr. Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, German ambassador, Metcalfe asserted.

Metcalfe said Kuhn boasted that the Bund was getting favorable consular named.

"One of the newer consuls general appointed a little over a year ago was Manfred Von Killinger, who was assigned to San Francisco June 11, 1937, Metcalfe testified.

"It was shortly after his appointment that this investigator visited San Francisco and on the night of Aug. 16, 1937 reported to Kuhn that the San Francisco post of the German-American Bund was well pleased with its new consul. Kuhn stated to this investigator:

"Of course, he is the kind of consul we want everywhere."

Wild Chase Ends As Cars Crash

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 29.—(UP)—Police held two youths today, after a wild chase through Sacramento business sections which ended when a stolen automobile, allegedly driven by the boys, and a police car crashed into a house.

The youths were Lee Jacobs, 17, and Donald Monroe, 15, son of a former Sacramento policeman who now is in Folsom prison on a morals case.

Patrolmen Earnest Laubinger and Turner Hough spotted the youths soon after the owner of the auto, E. E. Reed, reported it stolen. The boys fled, and in attempting a sudden turn crashed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shepherd. The officers, only a few feet behind, turned over and smashed into the house. None was injured.

Move U. S. Ships To Atlantic

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 29.—(UP)—The light cruiser U. S. S. Trenton raced down the Mexican coast under a full head of steam today carrying orders to join her two sister ships, the U. S. S. Cincinnati and Concord, and proceed at once to the Atlantic coast.

The Trenton left San Diego last night, 20 hours after the Concord and Cincinnati had cleared port under sudden and secret orders. She left San Pedro at 11:45 a. m. yesterday and was docked here less than two hours. Naval officials said the San Diego stop was made to take aboard crew members of the Cincinnati and Concord who were stranded by the quick departure of their ships Tuesday night.

EUROPE "TWO HOURS FROM WAR" WHEN HITLER CALLED CONCLAVE

ROME, Sept. 29.—(UP)—A trustworthy diplomatic source informed the United Press today that Europe was just two hours away from war at noon yesterday when Premier Benito Mussolini telephoned Adolf Hitler and urged him to postpone his planned invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The United Press was given what was purported to be the true facts of yesterday's events which temporarily saved Europe from disaster, together with a timetable of them.

Ready to March Hitler, it was said, had planned to enter Sudetenland at exactly 2 p. m. with 60 divisions of troops supported by 3000 airplanes.

Lord Perth, British ambassador, paid two hasty visits to Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister—the first at 10:15 a. m., the second at 11:30.

What Perth said on his first call was not known, but on his second, he was said to have told Ciano that Great Britain couldn't and wouldn't remain neutral if Germany invaded Czechoslovakia.

Ciano, it was said, immediately conveyed this information to Mussolini, who told him to get Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, on the telephone at once and arrange for a telephone conversation with Hitler at noon.

This telephone call halted Germany's armies marching, even then, toward the frontier.

At 3:30 p. m. Mussolini telephoned Hitler and during their conversation today's conference at Munich was arranged.

Leaves For Munich At 4 p. m. the United Press was told, American Ambassador William Phillips was ushered in to Mussolini's office to deliver President Roosevelt's appeal. Phillips was believed to have been the first person Mussolini informed of the Munich conference.

At 6 p. m. Mussolini left for Munich. It was felt in Rome today that the Munich conference could not fail because, after the hope for peace had been passionately revived in people's hearts, it would be impossible to get them to go to war without risking an internal revolution.

Fists Fly At Czech Conclave

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—(UP)—members of an unidentified opposition group nursed bruises today following a series of altercations last night when 1500 Czech sympathizers emerged from Trinity auditorium.

The fights were halted without the aid of police. Speakers at the meeting, which was held to plead for the protection of Czechoslovakia, included Francis Lederer, Czech film star; Mrs. Lincoln Steffens, widow of the famous writer; Irving Pichel, film director; Samuel Ornitz, writer; and Felix Janofsky, Czechoslovakian consul here.

The mass meeting was sponsored by the Czechoslovak National Alliance and the American League for Peace and Democracy.

Deadline Near For Registering

Offices of County Clerk Basil J. Smith will remain open until 6 o'clock tonight to offer final opportunity for Orange county voters to register for the November general election.

The legal deadline falls at midnight tonight, but the late closing of the courthouse office makes the practical termination of registration.

In accordance with state election laws, County Clerk Basil J. Smith must close his registration books today, 49 days in advance of the election.

DEALERS NAME CHIEF

DETROIT, Sept. 29.—(UP)—J. W. Roby of Shreveport, La., today was chosen president of the National Automobile Dealers Association as the group concluded its annual meeting. Roby succeeds E. M. Reid of Omaha, Neb. The 1939 convention was awarded to San Francisco.

WORLD HEARS POPE IN PLEA FOR PEACE

CASTEL GONDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Pope Pius addressed a plea for peace to the world today in a radio broadcast from the library of his country villa.

"Millions of men live in grief," he said, "because of the imminent danger of war and human slaughter."

"We pray to God for the successful conclusion of negotiations," at Munich the Pope said, his voice breaking with emotion.

"We pray that the Good God will give us a little more life in which to see the re-establishment of good will in the world."

The 81-year-old pontiff spoke into a desk microphone in the library of his country villa.

GERMANY, ITALY RAPPEL B. LITVINOV

GENEVA, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Maxim Litvinov, Soviet foreign commissar, charged today that Germany and Italy while demanding self-determination for the Sudeten, are denying the Spanish people the right to determine their own destiny.

Litvinov, addressing the league assembly's political commission on the Spanish problem, ironically referred to the Munich meeting, saying:

"Perhaps at this very moment, Hitler and Mussolini were imposing their will on the democracies of Europe."

Litvinov supported the request of the Spanish Loyalist government for a league commission to supervise the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from the Loyalist army.

Fight Looms In Custody Case

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Clifford Norris, 16-year-old Sacramento high school boy, today was the center of a custody fight between his father and Mrs. C. F. Jones, the woman in whose home he was born and where he has lived nearly all his life.

The father, Ralph Norris of Grass Valley, has petitioned Superior Judge Martin I. Welsh of Sacramento for a hearing, asking he be given custody of his son. The youth previously was in charge of his mother, who died here a year ago, after divorcing Norris in 1924.

Mrs. Jones declared both she and the boy plan a fight against the father's attempt to win custody.

New Yorkers Pray for Peace

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Mayor F. H. La Guardia called the city to prayer today in behalf of peace.

In a special proclamation he asked all New Yorkers to pray from 12:30 to 12:35 p. m. "for the peace of the world."

He suggested that all churches and synagogues be opened and that church bells be rung at 12:30.

HITLER STANDS PAT ON OCTOBER 1 "DEADLINE"

BULLETIN

MUNICH, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy agreed tonight on the essentials of a plan for peaceful partition of Czechoslovakia, but continued negotiations on technical details in expectation of signing the agreement at 10 p. m.

The momentous four-power conference worked furiously in order to deliver the agreement to Czechoslovakia—which has not yet been given opportunity to accept or reject it—and receive the Prague government's reply before Hitler's October 1 "war or peace" deadline.

There seemed little doubt that the powers would urge the Czechs to accept.

MUNICH, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Europe's four leading statesmen today made quick progress toward agreement on a plan to solve the Czechoslovak minority problem without war after Adolf Hitler had reiterated that Oct. 1 was still his deadline for entering Czechoslovakia.

Cautious, unofficial statements from various quarters were tinged with optimism. An agreement apparently was being shaped and the conferees obviously hoped Czechoslovakia could be persuaded to accept it.

No Official Word

No official word came from the Fuehrerhaus where Hitler, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain, Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy and Premier Edouard Daladier of France wrestled with their "peace or war" problem.

An inspired German statement said political circles felt "rather confident" that agreement would be reached. No pessimism was manifested by either the British or French, but it is difficult to say at a time like this whether such optimism is genuine or merely given out for the purpose of creating a "psychology of peace."

"Token" Entry

The situation seemed to shape as follows:

1. Hitler insists on German troops entering Czechoslovakia on Saturday.

2. The British and French propose a "token" entry so that Hitler's deadline may be carried out technically without a mass movement of steel-helmeted Reich troops.

3. The Czechoslovaks would be asked to withdraw now from the small Eger district in the northwest corner of Czechoslovakia. German troops, preferably in forage caps and without full fighting equipment, would move in.

4. In ensuing days, the Czechs would withdraw more and more until Germany is in control of the entire area which she claims as a right, without plebiscite.

5. Plebiscites would be held in the other districts which are not overwhelmingly German.

6. An international police force, probably mixed British, French and Italian, would patrol the plebiscite districts and ensure order and fairness.

7. Britain and France would guarantee fulfillment by Czechoslovakia of the terms of the agreement and result of the ple-

White House Silent On Roosevelt Peace Plea

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Reports that President Roosevelt had dispatched a wide-world round robin plea for peace to foreign capitals were met cautiously today by White House and state department spokesmen with the advice that inquiry be made abroad.

Dispatches reported from Moscow, Tokyo, Oslo and other foreign capitals receipt of Roosevelt communications appealing for efforts to aid peace. In these foreign quarters belief was indicated that the White House plea may have gone to most, if not all the 63 nations to which a Roosevelt peace round-robin was circulated last year.

But no confirmation of such action was forthcoming at the state department or White House. State department spokesmen said no additional information would be made public on the President's peace efforts. Any new details would have to "come from abroad," they said.

White House spokesmen took a similar stand, declaring that Mr. Roosevelt was not inclined to pat himself on the back for any contribution he may have made toward averting world catastrophe.

White House attaches said that official attention was now centered exclusively on the Munich peace-conference of Chancellor Adolf Hitler, Premier Benito Mussolini and Prime Ministers Edouard Daladier and Neville Chamberlain.

POLISH GUARDS IN ATTACK ON CZECHS; DEMAND SILESIA AREA

TESCHEN, Poland, Sept. 29.—(UP)—A Polish volunteer guard again crossed the Czechoslovak frontier today and tossed hand grenades into the police station in Czech Teschen.

All windows in the police station were smashed. No casualties were reported. The incident was a repetition of daily raids by "volunteers" on both sides of the frontier.

Deadline Near Inhabitants of the border region were fleeing to the interior with the approach of the Saturday deadline, laid down by the Polish government, for evacuation of the Teschen district by the Czechs.

The Polish civil administration organized to take over the government of the disputed Czechoslovak portion of Silesia as soon as the Polish army occupies it.

Unless Czechoslovakia makes a satisfactory decision, the Polish army is prepared to move Saturday against whatever resistance the Czech army offers along the frontier.

The two former districts of Poland, now in Czechoslovakia, would be made a part of the province of Katowice. Mayors for the towns and villages of the districts, of which Moravska Ostrava is the largest city, have been named. Commissions have been given to civilian functionaries for the rail, road, postal and telegraph offices. Even police and firemen have been named.

HOOVER CITES TRAGIC WARNING TO AMERICA

URGES MORALS IN GOVERNMENT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 29.—(UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover today asked American voters to look at the European situation as a "tragic warning" of what might be in store for this country if morals in government are overlooked.

"This threat which darkens the whole world grows from a philosophy from which our nation has in some degree become infected," Hoover said in an address last night.

Part of Moral Crisis
"This world crisis today is in part of moral crisis. There is in the forces which have led to this situation today a tragic warning to America."

The issues involved in the congressional elections, six weeks hence, are "in part moral issues and they are in part the infection which has spread over the whole world," the former president said. He proposed a six point program which he said would restore morality in government.

Supports Peace Move
Hoover revised his speech at the last minute to refer to the critical European situation. He said that the government's efforts to maintain peace deserved full support.

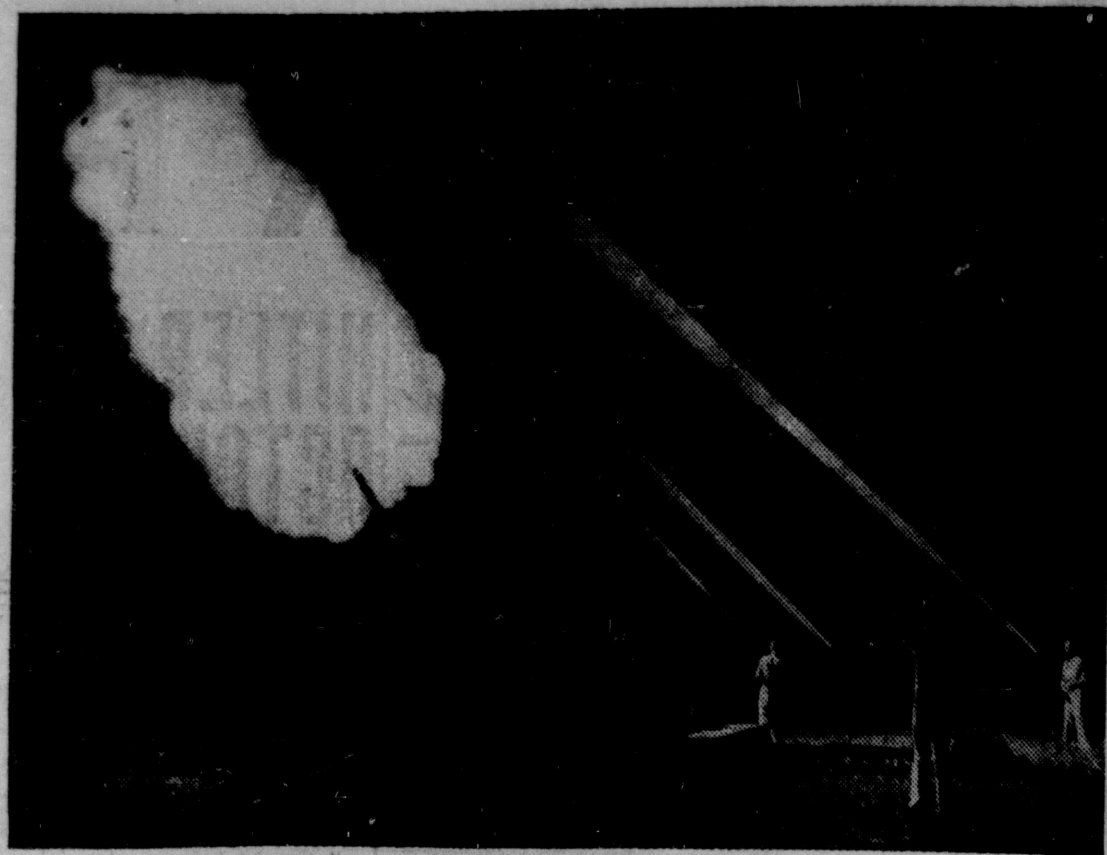

The fate of civilization in Europe hinges on the outcome of the efforts to avert war, Hoover said. Moral standards control peace in the world, moral standards in government sustain democracy and moral standards protect men from business abuses and exploitation, he said.

In a slashing attack on the policies of President Roosevelt and his administration, Hoover declared that it was time to "take the gloves off" and condemn "immorality" in government.

Challenges Roosevelt
The former president challenged Mr. Roosevelt's definition of "liberalism," and added that he would cheerfully become a conservative if it meant opposition to "dragging America into the morass of political immorality or into the dead sea of reaction."

The speech, broadcast last night over the Columbia Broadcasting System, was the first of three that Hoover will make in various parts of the country.

They Prepare For War In Time Of Peace

Flame shooting from anti-aircraft guns and powerful searchlights stabbing the darkness give a realistic wartime appearance to the countryside around Fort Bragg, N. C., as the U. S. Army air corps and anti-aircraft artillery practice for air defense maneuvers to be held Oct. 3 to 20. In the photo above, the gun has just been fired at a towed target picked out by a battery of searchlights.

of the country in the interest of Republican candidates in the November elections and to lay the groundwork for the 1940 presidential fight.

His address last night was devoted to morals in government. The second, at Hartford, Conn., will deal with "destruction of government of free men," he said, and the third at Spokane, Wash., will concern economic consequences of President Roosevelt's policies.

Stages 'Round-Up' In Her Auto

The movie producers may be forced to change their styles for western pictures if America goes as modern as Mrs. Bonita Gosney, Route 1, Huntington Beach, did today, according to report of officials.

For Mrs. Gosney held a round-up all her own this morning—in an automobile. Chief Criminal Deputy Merle Dean and Deputy James Musick were called to Bolsa Chico and Hile roads at 8:40 a. m. on complaint of Joe Brazil, Route 1, Huntington Beach. He complained Mrs. Gosney assertedly was chasing his cows by automobile over a pasture area. Brazil told the officers he had leased the land from Mrs. Gosney, had paid cash for the lease and couldn't understand why Mrs. Gosney had started the impromptu round-up. No arrest was made.

BANCROFT SEES RICH GROWING RICHER ON '30-A-WEEK' PLAN

RED BLUFF, Cal. Sept. 29.—(UP)—Philip Bancroft, Republican nominee for the U. S. Senate, said in a campaign speech today that "rich people and corporations with big tax bills," and not the poor, stand a chance of profiting from the 30-warrants-every-Thursday pension plan.

"Under this fantastic plan people will buy up the warrants at five or ten cents on the dollar and warrants," Bancroft said. "For ordinary usage these warrants won't be worth more than five or ten cents on the dollar."

Face Value
"The act provides, however, that the state must accept these warrants at face value in payment of taxes. It is obvious that the wealthy people and the big corporations with great tax bills will benefit even if only temporarily by the act."

$991 Awarded To Mother, Daughter Car Victim Gets $7500 Judgment

Mrs. Naomi Carpenter and her daughter, Margaret Jean, 18, between them won damage judgments totalling $991 against Roy Mendoza and his son, Richard, at the conclusion of trial before Superior Judge James L. Allen late yesterday.

Action was based upon a traffic collision last spring west of La Habra. Judge Allen granted the daughter $500 damages and awarded her mother $300, besides $191 for car damage and medical expenses. Attorney Gordon N. Richmond, of Orange, represented the plaintiffs.

Testimony Leads To Second Arrest

Evidence presented at the preliminary hearing for Newman Golden, 24-year-old Negro vagrant, charged with grand theft, led to the arrest of David W. Mann, 38, 289 South Poplar street, Brea, yesterday afternoon on a felony morals charge.

Golden, held to answer to superior court for trial October 26, assertedly stole a watch and change from Mann on the night of September 2 in a hobo "jungle" at Fullerton beside the railroad tracks, according to Mann's statement.

Then Golden told his story, asserting Mann had committed the morals offense against him. Both Golden and Mann are now in jail, according to Deputy District Attorney George Tobias who is prosecutor in the case. Melvin McNutt and Edward Bottoms, both white transients, also are held as material witnesses against Mann. A third witness escaped, Deputy Tobias said.

BUSINESS GAINS AND PAYROLL INCREASES SEEN IN SURVEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Improvement in business conditions and increases in employment and payrolls was predicted by Pacific coast industrial leaders today in a survey conducted and released by Strassburger & Co., San Francisco brokerage firm.

The company says the consensus of business executives who replied to a questionnaire forecast a business gain of five per cent during the next six months as compared with last year, accompanied by an increase of two per cent in employment and payrolls.

Difference of Opinion
The Strassburger poll, however, showed wide differences of opinion, both as to the general business situation and the varying trends of different businesses. "In the present compilation," the company said, "58 per cent of all respondents look for an increase in business, 25 per cent expect a decrease, and 17 per cent estimated there would be no change."

Increases in number of employees were expected by 34 per cent in payrolls by 42 per cent. Decreases in both employees and payrolls were estimated by 26 per cent. Forty per cent predicted no change in employees and 32 per cent no change in payrolls," the survey said.

Strikes Disturbing
The poll showed that business leaders believed strikes and unsettled labor conditions were the most disturbing of all adverse factors in many industries, although labor troubles were closely meshed with government policies in the typical executive mind. "Executives of the struck San Francisco department stores for the most part refused to hazard an opinion as to the future," Strassburger said.

IMAN IS ORDERED TO LEAVE SANTA ANA

Homer F. "Jack" Iman, 40, former boxer, resident of the Southern Rooms, Fourth and Garfield, who was charged with being a common drunkard and with assault and battery at 1 a. m. yesterday, was given a suspended sentence of 180 days in county jail when he appeared before City Judge J. G. Mitchell today.

Condition of the suspension was that Iman must leave Orange county at once and remain away for at least one year.

Iman was arrested on complaint of Pete Pappas, local restaurant man. Police asserted Iman resisted arrest. They reported using tear-gas when Iman refused to come out of his room and when tear-gas did not do any good, breaking through the door to arrest him. They said it was necessary to hand-cuff him to take him to jail. It was inadvertently stated yesterday that Iman lives at the Pappas apartments. The correct address is Southern Rooms, Fourth and Garfield.

Zealous Scout Warned of Trouble

So enthused about Boy Scout work that he was willing to fight about it, a 17-year-old Santa Ana boy was warned to go home with his ideas when police were called to Henry Wheat's store at 321 1-2 West Fourth late last night.

That was the report of Officers Harry Prichard and Cornish Roehm who investigated. Wheat alleged the youth argued with him over Boy Scout and when their ideas didn't coincide, told him "if you weren't an old man I'd whip you." When Wheat approached the youth, the youth said "don't hit me, I'm only 17," according to Wheat. Wheat then pushed the boy from the store, he told officers. "You had better go home before you get into trouble," the officers advised the boy.

Jewish New Year—In America and Germany

For millions of Jews scattered throughout the world the Jewish New Year offers little hope and cheer as the march of anti-Semitism gains new momentum. These two pictures tell a story of Jewry on two continents. In the picture above the ancient ritual of Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, is performed. One of the Jewish patriarchs blows the "Shofar" or ram's horn, calling the Jews to penitence and reflection and the other holds the holy scroll of "Torah" or Old Testament. Orthodox Jews celebrate the New Year two days while reform temples limit the observance to one day. At the right is pictured a cafe in Vienna with the words "sau jud" (hog Jew) painted on the window. Here, under Nazi regime, the New Year meant acceleration of the campaign of persecution against the Jews. Traditionally a time when family ties are strengthened and renewed, Rosh Hashana loses much of its meaning in 1938 for thousands of European Jews who through migration, imprisonment or death have been separated from friends and families during a year that has seen anti-Semitic vandalism increase steadily.

Fishermen Get Record Catch

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—(UP)—California sardine fishermen opened the 1938 season with a near record catch, the bureau of fisheries said today in its August report.

Indicating the industry may stage a comeback from last year's disastrous season, the bureau reported the August catch of five times as large as that of August, 1937.

The bureau said the catch for the Monterey and San Francisco areas was 26,940 tons compared with 4885 in 1937, 10,062 in 1936 and 4226 in 1935.

Last year the August sardine pack was 1033 cases compared with 116,596 this year.

BENJAMIN GUILTY ON MORALS COUNTS

Elliott Benjamin, 24, solicitor for a Los Angeles newspaper, was convicted last evening of two offenses against a 13-year-old Santa Ana girl on August 20, allegedly committed while he was canvassing Santa Ana homes for subscription to the newspaper.

A jury of eight men and four women in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court returned the "guilty" verdict at 8 o'clock last evening, after deliberating from 4:25 p. m. Judge Ames then set the time for pronouncing sentence at next Monday at 9:30 a. m.

Deputy District Attorney Warren Schutz prosecuted the case against Benjamin, who was defended by Attorney Simon L. Rose, of Los Angeles.

National Airport System Urged

FRESNO, Cal., Sept. 29.—(UP)—A formal resolution urging federal participation in the operation of a national airport system was being drafted today by the municipal airports committee of the League of California Municipalities.

The measure, seeking federal funds for the construction and maintenance of municipal airports important from military and commercial standpoints, was adopted in substance at a meeting of the committee here yesterday afternoon. The Civil aeronautics authority, a federal body, and private aviation interests also were represented.

R. M. Dorton, Long Beach city manager, was named chairman of the resolution committee. Other members are A. S. Dudley, Sacramento and A. H. Abel, commissioner of the Port of Oakland.

Guards Block Escape Attempt

FLORENCE, Ariz., Sept. 29.—(UP)—State prison guards, suspicious after finding a half-complete ladder in the prison yard, today thwarted an attempted escape by firing at a convict who dashed from the cannery toward the wall.

The alarm was sounded at 1:30 a. m. when B. L. Pinkerton, guard at tower No. 2, said he noticed a prisoner smoking in the mill building. He said he saw the man go into the cannery and saw him run from there to a place along the wall where the ladder had been found earlier.

A guard at the next tower fired at the fleeing man who promptly halted.

Warden John C. Eagler said the convict was Luther Ennis, 45, serving a one-to-10 year term for burglary. The warden said Ennis is also wanted as an escapee by West Virginia authorities.

Stan Laurel Jailed As Drunk

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Stan Laurel, film comedian, after spending the night in jail, was released by police today on $150 bail, following his arrest last night and booking on a misdemeanor charge of drunk driving.

Laurel was arrested on Reseda boulevard, near his San Fernando valley home by Officers Tom Taylor and Dick Morgan. They said he was driving at 55 miles an hour, on the wrong side of the highway, and narrowly escaped colliding with the police car when the officers attempted to arrest him.

Taylor and Morgan said Laurel told them he was looking for his blondes Russian wife, Illiana, who had left home after a quarrel. Laurel was married to Illiana, a singer, three times recently. The marriages have followed estrangements between Laurel and his wife.

Tomato Worker Succumbs On Job

Firemen rushed a rescuator to the scene but found that Rivas already had died. No inquest will be held.

MRS. JACKSON ILL.

Mrs. Mae Jackson, 220 East Washington street, was in critical condition today at St. Joseph hospital following a major operation.

She is getting along "as well as can be expected," attendants reported.

Paris Street Scene As War Threatened

This picture was typical of street scenes in Paris as Europe tottered nearer and nearer the brink of another great war. Crowds of excited Parisians are shown thronging the street outside newspaper offices to watch bulletins on the crisis. Many of these people recalled 1914 and the bloody years that followed, when Paris was target of the German "Big Berthas" and the city feared occupation by the hard-hitting military machine from across the Rhine.

Britons Avid For "War" Bulletins

Charges Fly At Oil Hearing

permit had been granted for the drilling," Stipp said, "so I ordered the operations stopped."

Sturzenacker later telephoned, he said, that the permit had been granted and ordered the drilling resumed.

Stipp also testified that during September, 1935, oil royalties received by the state at the beach were sold to the refinery operated by M. M. McCallen, mayor of Huntington Beach. No bids had been asked on the sale of this royalty oil, Stipp said.

Stipp, questioned the authenticity of initials on "oil run rackets" made out at his office.

Both the defense counsel and Board Member E. H. Christian objected to the questions about the initials put to Stipp by Frank Perry, counsel for the board.

The hearing was adjourned to October 17 following the noon recess today.

Shotgun Ends Woman's Life

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Her head shattered by a shotgun blast, the body of wealthy Mrs. Ruth Vorhees, 43, was found early today in a bedroom of her home in the exclusive Toluca Lake movie residential colony.

Detectives started search for a man they said was an ex-convict who had been jilted by the woman. Mrs. Vorhees returned home late. Her neighbors in the North Hollywood Lakeshore district, where Mary Astor and other movie stars make their homes, saw the lights go on and then heard a gunshot. They called police without investigating.

Officers found the woman's body on her bedroom floor. Homicide Detectives Roy Giese and Ed Romero said she apparently had been instantly killed by a blast from a shotgun at close range. No gun was found.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—(UP)—The Pacific Gas & Electric company today announced it will seek rehearing of a federal court decision ordering the company to refund approximately $7,000,000 in impounded gas revenues to Northern California consumers.

Judge Warren Olney, counsel for the P. G. & E., said a petition for rehearing of the case would be filed shortly. If this is refused, the next step would be an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court, he indicated.

The case concerned an order of the California railroad commission fixing lower utility rates for the P. G. & E. The company maintained the rates were "confiscatory" and challenged the commission's procedure in arriving at its estimate of a "fair return" on the company's investment.

PITTMAN SEES HALT OF WAR IN "NEW DEAL"

ECONOMIC NOTE ALSO SOUNDED

RENO, Nev., Sept. 29.—(UP)—A prediction that Germany, Italy and Japan will postpone "further conquests" until spring was voiced today by Senator Key Pittman, chairman of the powerful Senate foreign relations committee.

Pittman used poker terms to describe the game being played today in the four-power conference at Munich between Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, Premier Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain, Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy and Premier Edouard Daladier of France.

"Mussolini is the greatest political poker player in all history," Pittman said. "He has never been called on a bluff, but he has never put all his chips on any bluff. Apparently his partner, Der Fuehrer, overplayed his hand and was about to be called, in spite of the peaceful Chamberlain."

"Mussolini quickly called for a new deal in a four handed game in which he could protect his partner. It was apparent to Mussolini the new deal was necessary, since England might substitute Anthony Eden to play the hand instead of Chamberlain."

"Barter and Trade"
Pittman said he was happy to see that the way has been opened to a four-power conference to settle the Sudeten controversy intelligently.

Turning to international economics, the Nevada Senator proposed a "barter and trade" system to exchange American cotton surplus for silver hoarded in China and India.

"The temporary expedients of the department of agriculture provided for raising the price of cotton by paying for reduced acreage and lending government money for unmarketable surpluses at prices above the export figure have not only proved an absolute failure but must result in great loss to the government and a continuing destruction of foreign markets for American cotton," Pittman said.

Cites Harmful Effects
Artificial price raising has stimulated foreign competition and increased cotton production abroad, besides leading to adoption of cotton substitutes, Pittman said, pointing to the American cotton carryover of 13,400,000 bales as of Aug. 1. He said reduction of production from 40,000,000 to 27,000,000 acres cost the government $123,600,000 with still further reductions necessary.

"If the secretary of state could find foreign products of sufficient volume and value that we could profitably use in our country without destruction or material injury to our own industry, he could supply purchasing power abroad for all our exports," declared Pittman. "I know of only one such product. That is silver. There are large quantities of hoarded silver in China and India."

"Let our government trade 10 pound of cotton for one ounce of silver, resulting in our exporting 13,400,000 bales or 6,700,000,000 pounds of cotton and importing 670,000,000 ounces of silver. We

Britain Prepares For War

Unswayed by Hitler's agreement to a Four Power conference in Munich, carrying hopes that a war in Central Europe may be averted by last-minute action, preparations for "any eventualities" go on throughout Europe. Here, "somewhere in England," but doubtless near London, a guncrew aims home a charge in an anti-aircraft gun, defense against possible air raids.—(Acme Radio-Telephoto).

Stanley Kurtz Named Soloist Of L. A. Church

Stanley Kurtz, who for the last four years has been soloist at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Santa Ana, has been named soloist for First Church of Christ, Scientist, Los Angeles, according to announcement made by the local church officials today.

Kurtz is recognized as one of the leading baritone voices of the Southland and his hundreds of friends point out that his selection by the Los Angeles church is recognition of his talent. He has appeared in concerts and operas in all sections of Southern California during the last few years.

Until this year Kurtz was principal of the El Modena schools, but at the start of the present school year he was made principal of Centralia school, located near Cypress.

Kurtz will take up his duties as soloist of the Los Angeles church next Sunday. His successor in Santa Ana has not yet been named.

Flash: Fists Fly At Meeting Of Breakfast Club

Fists flew at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast Club this morning but it was all in fun.

Frank Lockhart, of the Business Men's Gym, was program chairman, and presented a boxing exhibition between Bob Blake, of Santa Ana junior college, and "Buck" Durbin, as the feature "go" of the morning. Lockhart also "tangled" with Durbin in an exhibition bout.

Following the boxing, Lockhart told of the routine followed by fight-fighters in preparing for a fight and demonstrated various exercises used during the training sessions.

will issue silver certificates against it and pay the owners or holders of such exported cotton 12 1/2 cents a pound. The government neither makes or loses anything on the transaction."

L. A. Soloist

Stanley Kurtz, principal of Central school at Cypress, who has been named at First Church of Christ, Scientist in Los Angeles, after serving four years in the same post in the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Santa Ana.

"We are in a terrible state. Our youngest boy has taken his church money for candy for the last month. We only found it out just now. His older brother told him he would have to tell us if he did not stop it, and finally he had to tell on him. We give him everything he wants and it grieves us to have a child of ours turn thief. He is eight."

He isn't a thief. He made a mistake, but perhaps we had a share in that mistake. This child is eight years old, the age when activity is driving him hard; when appetites are strongest; when experience is scantiest. We send him to church on a lovely morning, and make him sit still for about two hours, with nothing to interest him.

Church may interest the grown up person. It should. But I have seen some very stalwart churchmen sleeping throughout a sermon. Haven't you? How must it feel for a little boy of eight to sit through the meaningless ritual of church? And the collection plate? It comes along and he drops in his coin and sees it no more. He does not know why he puts it in there. He does not know where it goes. And if you told him he would not be interested.

Now suppose you were a little boy facing two hours, or even less, in church, sitting in silence, immovable, while the clergyman talked and you sat uninterested, unimpressed. Suppose you had a nickel in your pocket as you passed the candy store. You thought of how lemon balls to suck through the dreary hour? And you went in and exchanged that nickel for those lemon balls? Thief? Isn't that too big a word for a small boy? The wrong word for the idea? I believe it is. I think we have a responsibility in the spending of that nickel. And I think we ought to take heed to it.

First, if you want a child to attend church, go along with him. Don't send him. Take him. The difference is great. It changes his whole attitude toward church. And supply a bag of candy to be fed out surreptitiously during the sermon. Grandmother's peppermints were not without merit.

And tell the child why he puts that nickel in the plate. Give him a reason for what his hand must do. Charge his imagination so that the nickel seems all too small for the service it must render and this trouble will vanish like snow in the summer.

Once we had a small boy in the house. His grandmother took him to a missionary service one afternoon. He took five cents for collection. He too was eight. We were expecting the churchgoers home for tea when the door burst open; the breathless, hatless child raced through the house to his room and got his bank.

"Here, here, where are you going with that? Where's your grandmother? Stand still a minute. What's the matter with you, anyway?"

"Don't stop me. I gotta get this money to the children in Armenia. They haven't anything to eat, nor

Last year the Community Chest reached its full goal, and campaign leaders are confident that the community will again respond in a generous manner to fill the Community Chest.

Arrange Services In Garden Grove

Abbott, Long Beach evangelist, who is holding a revival campaign at the Free Methodist church, Pine and Acacia streets, announces that preliminary messages on prophetic subjects will be presented each evening before the regular evangelistic sermon. "The Seven Signs of Christ's Coming" will furnish the basis of the prophetic messages during the next few nights.

The subject of the sermon for tonight is "God's Detective." Sunday morning Mrs. Abbott will speak on "The Reach of God's Love" and Sunday night on "The Entrancing Vision." A street service is announced for Saturday night, when the evangelist will present a short message and special musical numbers will be given. That's what I mean saying, make giving mean something. Our experience was overdone, but he got the idea.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va.—The question I hear discussed most frequently is whether there will be a split in the Democratic Party or a new party in 1940.

The Democratic Party, inwardly is already split. It is a Democratic Party in name with a Third New Deal leadership. Except for the President, such architects of its policy as Hopkins, Corcoran, Ickes and Cohen are not Democrats at all. It is not merely that they have a Democratic Party background. Their policies and thinking are the precise reverse of the policies of that party. They contrive that what is proposed as Administration policy is antagonistic to every traditional principle of that party.

Has the party turned itself inside out to follow them? In many cases, only where patronage and expediency have induced leaders and their constituencies seem to follow. The Democratic Party is now an organization with a head moving in one direction—and its body desiring to go in another. It is like a Punic mercenary army—piebald groups held together not by principle but by pay. It is a contraption braced by haywire and stuck together with spit.

The only reason that cocky Third New Dealers use its name as a false-face is the strength of its nation-wide local organizations, the fetish-worship of the Solid South and the dignity of its ancient name. It is too hard to start a new party. They are seducing or cudgelling the loyalty of old line Democrats, only to laugh secretly at them as stupid stooges.

Will this cause a split? If it doesn't cease, it is bound to do so. There is quiet being circulated among liberal leaders of the Republican Party and regular Democrats a very clear scheme.

The Republican convention adopts the Democratic platform of 1932, modified to meet 1940 problems. Then it changes its name to "Jeffersonian Democratic Party" and temporarily adjourns.

The idea here is to call attention to the fact that the Third New Deal has shifted all of Jefferson's political principles as well as its 1932 promises, into reverse and that the Republicans have shifted into them—decentralization of government, no more governmental regimentation than is necessary, local government of local affairs, etc. It is also that Jefferson's party was originally called "Republican," then "Democratic Republican" and finally simply "Democratic." Finally, it is based on the belief that the name "Republican" is a hughar south of the Mason and Dixon line.

The Democrats would try to control their convention against the minority Third New Deal usurpers, write the platform and nominate the national ticket. If they failed, they would walk out, form a rump convention and do all those things adopting the platform of the "Jeffersonian Democrats."

The Jeffersonian Democrats would then reconvene and nominate the candidates already nominated by the Democratic convention.

There are all kinds of difficulties in this plan, but there are tremendous advantages. It avoids a third party, except as the homeless Third New Deal party might seem to be one. It preserves the old Republican local organization in the North and the Democratic organization in the South. It would undoubtedly automatically carry a considerable electoral majority.

It would result in more old Republicans than old Democratic nominees for the Senate and the House in the North but only in the first year. It would give the Presidency to the old Democrats but no new President and his government could fall to lean over backward to knitt his party and his government by fair treatment to both old factions.

It would be a blessing because it would drag out into the open the essential issue "to correct abuses do we need to change our traditional political and economic

SPLINTER REMOVAL

MICHIGAN PRIEST STILL KEPT PRISONER AS PICKETS MARCH

VULCAN, Mich., Sept. 29.—(UP)—One hundred and fifty pickets milled about the rectory of the St. Barbara's Catholic church today, determined to resist any new attempt to liberate the Rev. Simon Borkowski, whom they have held a prisoner for nearly seven weeks.

The pickets are his parishioners. Two months ago his superiors ordered him to transfer to the Salvatorian Seminary at St. Nazianz, Wis., but the parishioners were determined to keep him. When he attempted to leave Aug. 14, they established a 24-hour picket line and told him he would never get away.

They lost him for a time yesterday but got him back after rioting in which at least five men were beaten, two severely. The fighting was between the group of Catholics who wish Father Borkowski to remain and another faction of his parishioners who wish the trouble settled. The invading group organized quietly and yesterday raided the parish house, escorted Father Borkowski to the street and installed Father Erasmus Dooley in his place.

But when the second group returned the old pickets reassembled, took Father Borkowski back into the parish house and then beat five of the invading group who were still in the house. Father Borkowski apparently made no effort to get away in the time he was out of the house.

REVENGE SENSED IN SHATTERED WINDOW

A sugar beet, hurled through a window of Clay Williams' residence in Stanton at 10:50 p. m. yesterday, sent sheriff's officers on an investigation. Williams, who lives in what formerly was the Stanton city hall, told Deputies Frank Cagle and Harvey Guich the window glass was smashed. He said he believed "revenge" was motive for the act since he recently asked that less noise be made at a Stanton business establishment and threatened to send a complaint to police.

UPTON ADDRESSES WILLARD GROUPS

Roland Upton, superintendent of schools, Buena Park, addressed the Willard Parent-Teacher association Tuesday evening at a dinner meeting held at the school cafeteria. "The Responsibility of the Parent Relative to Educating the Child in This Day of Modern Educational Influences," was the theme on which the speaker presented an appealing address. Seventy-five members and friends were in attendance.

Dinner was concluded with a community sing led by L. K. Schmidt, science teacher, with Miss Helen Gancy, music instructor, at the piano. Superintendent Upton introduced each teacher for the benefit of new parents present. Following a short business session with Mrs. W. O. Mendenhall, Willard association president, presiding, the program chairman, Mrs. H. J. Becker, presented the Misses Margaret Jaberg and Verna Marie Osborn in a group of delightful violin and piano numbers. Members of the executive board were hostesses for the evening.

Lathrop P.-T. A. Opens New Year

First meeting of the Julia Lathrop junior high school Parent-Teacher association was held in the new school auditorium Tuesday evening with Franklin G. West the principal speaker and a program of music as special entertainment.

H. G. Nelson, school principal, opened the meeting with a short address of welcome and remarks on various phases of taxation measures that will appear on the November ballot.

The musical program was given by Ethel May Hazen, of Santa Ana and Billy Dyer, of Orange, who played accordion music. Homer Chaney served as master of ceremonies for the affair.

Mrs. E. R. Childs, president of the association, announced that benefit rummage sale would be sponsored by the group at 402 East Fourth street, on Friday and Saturday of this week. Refreshments were served by the executive board with Mrs. Dale Griggs, Mrs. L. R. Musick and Mrs. C. Trusty in charge.

LATHROP NEWS

Lathrop students and faculty are enjoying the luxury and privileges of their first real auditorium. That appreciation has been manifested in a marked degree by the quiet, courteous attention displayed by the students at their first two assemblies. Many interesting plans are in the offing for programs and various types of gatherings this year. The drama class, music department, public speaking classes will particularly appreciate the opportunity of giving public performances, and the student body will be equally anxious to be their appreciative audiences on any and all occasions.

Andronickie Pappas, first girl president of the student body, has presided at the first two assemblies at which time she introduced the various student body officers and made necessary announcements for the opening of school.

Now ending the third week of school, new and old students are well adjusted to their new programs, and are showing a keen interest in developing a wholesome, cooperative school spirit of which Lathrop may be justly proud. Safety committee members have been on the job since the first day of school and the new membership list will be announced by Mr. Ferris Scott next week.

A few new subjects appeared on the curriculum this term, namely mythology under the direction of Another item of considerable interest to the girls are the new modern showers in the girls' physical education department. This has been a long felt hope of the girls so has met with great enthusiasm and interest.

First Edition of Lathrop Lineup Jackie Musick and Russell Cleary were the editors of the first Lathrop Lineup of the season which was published this week under the direction of Mrs. Grace Wolff.

Each month a different English teacher will have charge of the school publication and the staff will be selected from the literature classes. Other editors assisting Jackie and Russell in this first issue were: Jack Givens, Jean Williams, Merlyn Johnson, Gloria Midek, Roy Boyd, Louise Haven, Betty Lord, Norman Lee, Frank Fishbaugh, Eleanor Lawrence, Bill Chandler, Pat Jones, Douglas Carter, George Haven, Rose Ann Griggs, Wayne Burnett, Maxine Burnett.

Mrs. Marguerite Hill, with the assistance of her English class, will have charge of the October issue.

High School Notes

The second high school assembly of the year was held this week, and it consisted of a pep rally as a preliminary for the game with Long Beach Poly high school, Friday.

The band opened the assembly with two marches, Legionnaires on Parade, and Cadet Captain. Bernard Robinson had charge of the assembly, and after giving a talk on the possibility of the team repeating last year's successful season, he introduced Coach Bill Poote, who told the student body how much the team appreciated their spirit and support. The lettermen, returning from last year, were then introduced, after which several new school yells were presented to the student body. The band and student body participated in the singing of the school song, led by the yell leaders, Don Oliphant, Clifton Steele and Milton Mattinson, and the long leaders, Sadye Mason, Katherine Ham-bright and Doris Jacobs.

Stuart Carrier gave a short pep talk and the assembly was concluded by another band number, and a piano accordion solo by Bill Ward, a member of the band. Bernard Robinson dismissed the student body.

Miss Bettie Lacy received the Beta Phi Delta High School Service club of which she is president, and the club's guests in her home at 705 South Broadway, Monday evening.

The evening was spent in getting acquainted, and the following girls were present to meet the members of the club and the club's advisor, Miss Mary Safely: Phyllis Bemis, Mary Corey, Madeline Swenson, Cecelia Earl, Doris Cox, Ruth Ann Segerstrom, Carol Miller, Gloria Spafford, Marjorie Wall, Marjorie Mize, Darlene Sherry, Enid Jones, Rosemary Blodgett, Phyllis White and Betty Johnson.

Miss Carolyn Wells, vice president of the club, was asked by the hostess to officiate at the scheme where the club's color scheme was carried out by the yellow flowers flanked by blue candles.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pen and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills. Used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes push out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—Hollywood should find ample brain food in the financial record of "Marie Antoinette." M-G-M executives were so impressed by this picture's lavishness and tremendous cost that they decided to re-release it at greatly inflated prices. In Los Angeles, for instance, admission fees were approximately three times those charged for ordinary pictures. The public failed to flock to the theatre—and that in spite of the fact that "Marie Antoinette," without deserving all the superlatives squandered by its publicists, actually is a very fine picture.

As I reported in this column several weeks ago, Metro then executed a diplomatic about-face and threw the picture into general release at "popular" prices. With amazing results! The property that looked like an adventure in red ink is now doing a landslide business. The lesson here is that John and Jane Public are not willing to pay $1.65 to see a movie no matter how good it may be. They are quite willing to concede that "motion pictures are your best entertainment," but they are not willing to shell out regularly to see innumerable lemons, and then be forced to pay three times the regular fare to attend the really good pictures. Hollywood can make a sweet profit on any picture at regular prices—if the picture is good enough to fill the theatre. "Marie Antoinette" is proving that conclusively.

CUFF NOTES: Warner Brothers are negotiating for screen rights for the funniest, "Joe Palooka." Slapstick Maxie Rosenbloom will play the title role when and if it's produced. . . . Key Luke has been released from contract by Twentieth Century-Fox—definite proof that there will be no more Charley Chans. . . . Scratch Richard Arlen's name from the winter golf tournament programs—he broke his right hand while tussling with a gasoline engine on his ranch. . . . Adrien Ames will spend the entire winter in New York, airing it on a radio program. . . . Joe E. Brown, carted on a stretcher to the U. C. L. A.-Iowa grid game in order to see his son play, is buying Jr. a new car to reward his nice work. . . . Sprinkle salt on those reports that Errol Flynn is dangerously ill of typhoid fever—it's just an ordinary touch of flu, but the studio wanted to remind you that he once ventured in the jungles. . . . Jack Haley gets a star billing in "Thanks for Everything"—the picture that caused the split between Eddie Cantor and Twentieth Century. . . . Humphrey Bogart has bought an interest in an Oregon anglofarm—farm-ers can 'em for fish bait. . . . Producers are determined to make controversial pictures and will risk the $25,000 fine assessed on such material by the Hays office. . . . The first bombshell scheduled is "The Doctor Laughs at Life," dealing with a group of medical plans. . . . Bermuda now outranks Honolulu as Hollywood's pet vacation spot—the Pat O'Briens and the William Wellmans are the latest to make reservations. . . . The worst epidemic of eye-trouble in years is sweeping films—technicolor, demanding five times as much light as ordinary photography, is responsible. . . . The two-millionth photo of Her Majesty, Queen Shirley, was mailed today to an Australian fan. . . . Hollywood has taken a brutal razing for years from the self-ordained intelligentsia who like to make remarks about our lack of culture. . . . Maybe we deserve the razing—but, talking with my book-dealer, I've just made an interesting discovery. On the Boulevard less than a mile in length, there are fourteen book stores. And, in all Filmville history, not one book-seller has ever failed in business!

BELLS AND NO BELLS: Congratulations chimes to Florence Vidor (Mrs. Jascha Heifetz) for remaining the very lovely lady she was always. . . . no-bells. . . . Warner Brothers for using Anthony Averill in small villain roles only—after inducing him to come here with the promise of great things. . . . "There Goes My Heart" rings the best-picture-of-the-week bell. . . . and a carillon to Patsy Kelly for her performance in it, which overshadows those of its stars. . . . a dull dud to press agents who try to cash in on national disasters (witness the recent hurricane) by rushing out untrue rumors that their stars are involved. . . . and a gong on that brassy gong to stars who announce new romances before the ink dries on their inter-lucory decrees. . . . a resounding chime for the magnificent color photography in "Valley of the Giants."

After months of debate, Samuel Goldwyn has finally changed the title "The Lady and the Cowboy" to "The Cowboy and the Lady" and I'm a bit disappointed in Sam. Seems as though he could have been polite enough to let the lady go first—just in the title. Copyright, 1938, McNaught Syn., Inc.

NEW LIBRARY BRANCH READY

A new branch of the county library system will be opened at Dana Point next Monday, October 3, it was announced today by County Librarian Carma Zimmerman.

At the same time, Mrs. Zimmerman made known that La Habra branch library will celebrate the first anniversary of its new building Saturday, October 1.

Postmistress in Charge
The Dana Point branch library will be located in Dana Point post office building, and Mrs. Laura Louise Russell, postmistress, also will have charge of the library, the librarian stated.

The Dana Point branch will be open on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 2 to 5 p. m. It will be supplied from the central library with a collection of adult fiction and non-fiction, juvenile works and a few reference books.

La Habra branch, completing a successful year in its new building, will celebrate Saturday by holding open house from 1 to 5 p. m. and featuring an exhibit of fine printing, including work of the Fine Arts press, Santa Ana; the Ward Ritchie press, Grabhorn brothers and John Henry Nash, of San Francisco.

A display of bugles also is arranged, and refreshments will be served.

County Employees To Elect Heads

Election of officers and committee reports are scheduled at the annual meeting of the Orange County Employees Mutual Benefit Association, set for next Tuesday evening at 7:30 in department two of superior court.

Two matters of special interest to the county employees, it is said, will be a report on group insurance, and a report from President Arthur Anderson on a recent vacation visit to 22 counties of the state, for inspection of their employee organizations.

"Psychology of Art" is the subject of Danz' address, while Miss Clara Spelman, of Newport Beach, will present a novel part of the program. Music material will be on display for the occasion.

LIBRARY 'OPEN HOUSE' SUNDAY HELD TO HONOR LOUIS DANZ

The Santa Ana Public Library will hold "Open House" Sunday afternoon honoring Louis Danz, prominent art and music critic, and Elise (Mrs. Merle Armitage), outstanding west coast exponent of abstract painting.

At four o'clock, Danz will speak on "Modern Art." Paintings of Elise will be on exhibition at that time and will be used as illustration during Danz's talk. The work of Mrs. Armitage has been exhibited in many galleries and several of her paintings are in the permanent collection of the Los Angeles Museum of Art. In private life, she is the wife of Merle Armitage, noted impresario author and director of the Los Angeles Opera Association.

Distinguished Artist
Danz is a resident of Santa Ana whose reputation as an art and music critic is well established. His two books "Zarathustra, Jr." on music, and "The Psychologist Looks at Art" have brought him national recognition. He has also contributed to the Los Angeles Times.

As the library has no lecture room, the main reading room will be turned over for this event. Students who must remain faithful to the printed page during the opening hours of 2 to 5 will have the reference room in the basement in which to pursue studies.

The paintings will be on exhibition until October 11. Danz has offered a cash prize of $25 to the best essay by a high school or junior college student on the paintings. The lecture Sunday is open to the public.

WORK OF SALVATION ARMY IS TWO FOLD, REVIEW REVEALS

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles to be published by The Register concerning the activities of the eight agencies that will receive support from the $25,000 Community Chest fund for 1938-39. Today's article concerns the Salvation Army whose share of the fund is $400.

Work of the Salvation Army is divided into two classes: first, administration to the spiritual and moral side of the lives of those who turn to this agency, and second, the administration of social welfare and relief work.

Members of the Salvation Army, constantly carrying on assistance to are doing everything they possibly can to build the character of the young people who come under its influence. Last year more than 4,000 young people between the ages of 12 and 18 attended Bible courses. Many of them have no affiliation with any church or a better class of society.

Christmas Happiness
The Salvation Army makes a special effort on holidays such as Christmas to provide a little extra happiness to the home of the poor of the city. This is carried on in addition to the daily relief work that the Army does.

Last year more than 12,000 meals were distributed to the poor of the community and, including Christmas meals and victims of the March flood, nearly 800 families were given relief. The average number in the families assisted was five, making a total of more than 4,000 persons fed and clothed.

Throng of Transients
Included in the relief program is the finding of work for those who are unemployed. Last year a total of more than 300 persons were provided with work. Of this number 238 men were supplied with work and 67 women were assisted in gaining employment.

A little publicized activity of the Salvation Army that is unquestionably of great benefit to the community is the care of thousands of transients that is carried on throughout the year.

NEW JAYSEE BOND VOTE LOOMS

PETITIONS NOW IN CIRCULATION

Voters of Santa Ana junior college district may be asked to pass again upon the $385,000 college bond issue, which they defeated last Friday.

Proponents of the bond issue, loathe to give up the proposal in view of the 261 margin of votes by which it lost, today were busy with petitions to be laid before the board of education, asking that the bond issue be resubmitted to the electorate at some early date.

Presented at Club

Five petitions were reported in circulation yesterday, backed by the Junior College Patrons association. Members of service clubs, and other organizations were being asked to sign them. Mrs. C. V. Doty, treasurer of the patrons association, presented such a petition before the board of education, asking that the bond issue be resubmitted to the electorate at some early date.

Whether the petitions would be ready to lay before the board of education tomorrow when it meets to canvass the vote of the bond election last Friday, when the bonds were voted down by 4021 "yes" to 2401 "no," was not known. The next regular meeting of the board is scheduled October 14.

Attitude in Dark

What the board's attitude toward a second bond election would be, also remained a matter of speculation. Before the first election, members of the board expressed the opinion that it was their duty to give the people a chance to vote on the question, regardless of prospects either for or against the bonds, because there was a chance to get 45 per cent of the cost from the federal government.

The people having been given the opportunity, and having defeated the bonds, the board may feel that it has now done its duty, it was pointed out today. But no expression of attitude toward another election has been made publicly by any member of the board.

There is no legal requirement that a petition be filed with the board, or order to have a second election, according to Assistant District Attorney Preston Turner. The petitions now being circulated, therefore, are entirely informal, and designed merely to give the board of education an expression of opinion on the subject of another election.

PLEGGED TO FRATERNITY

YOUNG JAPANESE ORATOR WINS CONTEST AT LEAGUE GATHERING

Sam Masuda, Garden Grove boy and sophomore at Santa Ana Junior college, who has been the winner of many oratorical contests, recently won the National Japanese American Citizens' league contest and had the honor of having his name inscribed on the trophy.

The trophy was presented by the Japanese American society and presented to Masuda at the fifth annual convention of the Japanese American Citizens' league. He also received a gold medal and a gold cup.

Trophies Displayed

When a junior in Garden Grove high school he won the high school toastmasters' contest in the Southern California finals. The following year he was winner of the farm oratorical contest sponsored by the same group. This was in the Japanese language. He was winner recently of the Southern California Japanese Farm oratorical contest, when he spoke in English and received a gold watch and cup. He was one of the two Japanese who received a cash scholarship from the Central Japanese Association of Southern California. Many other contests have been won by Masuda and a group of the trophies are on display in the window of the First National bank.

ORDER GIVEN ON CITY PETITIONS

Controversy over a site for Fullerton's proposed new city hall had led today into superior court with the filing of a taxpayer's suit by Hollis H. Knowlton against City Clerk Fred Hezmalhalch, to compel the clerk to certify sufficiency of referendum petitions filed with the Fullerton council. Superior Judge G. K. Scovel granted an alternative writ of mandate against the clerk, directing him to certify the petitions or appear in court October 7 at 2 p. m. and show cause why he should not do so.

"Improperly Disallowed"
Knowlton's suit questioned Clerk Hezmalhalch's action in granting requests for withdrawal of names from the petitions after the petitions had been filed, and also charged that other signatures had been improperly disallowed by the clerk.

Attorneys Harold McCabe and Sam L. Collins represent Knowlton in the mandamus action, their complaint reciting that a petition to the council, seeking a referendum vote on the question of purchasing a city hall site for $25,050 at the northeast corner of Highland and Commonwealth avenues, was filed August 20, and certified by the clerk on August 29. The petition carried 626 signatures.

Withdrawals Granted

Meanwhile, on August 25 and August 27, withdrawal of certain names was granted by the clerk. On September 8 a supplemental petition carrying 100 names was filed. This, it was said, left the petitions six names short of the required number.

The council already had purchased the site, it is said, and has cleared some buildings off of it.

Midway City Area Hearing Is Set

Following a report by Engineer George L. Bates on the assessed valuation of property in the proposed district, the county supervisors today had set a hearing for November 1 on a proposal to form a sanitary district at Midway City. Bates stated that the assessed valuation in the area was $230,000, which represented an increase of 65 per cent in building values over the last four years. This, he estimated, was one of the largest increases in the county.

Construction of a sewer system and treatment plant is contemplated in connection with formation of the district.

Guests Share Pleasure Of Social Section Card Party

To the hostesses who planned Tuesday's enjoyable bridge party in Veterans hall as one of the opening events of Woman's club social section, was expressed the appreciation of the many guests for the friendly hospitality.

This included the cool and appetizing salad course served at small tables, each with its little cluster of bright flowers, and the thoughtfulness that arranged for preferences in games. For while the majority of guests preferred either contract or auction bridge, there were tables in readiness for those that enjoyed anagrams.

Mrs. S. E. Littrell took first prize in the anagram group; Mrs. W. M. Wallingford among contract players, and Mrs. F. May Matthews in auction. Fourteen tables were required for the various contests.

Miss Linda Kroeker, Mrs. L. R. Musick, Mrs. Earl Lepper, Mrs. Thomas Clem, Mrs. M. M. Collins and Mrs. F. A. Martin comprised the hostess group. Casual conversation of the afternoon included anticipation of the "miniature fair" which Woman's club will stage in Veterans hall on the afternoon and evening of October 18, when booths and displays will be many and varied.

First Grandchild Is Happily Welcomed

Attaining a new title, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan W. McFarlane, 617 East Walnut street, may now be addressed as "Grands," because of a telegram received today announcing the birth in the early hours of the morning, of a baby daughter to their son and daughter-in-law, the Robert McFarlanes of San Diego. The little eight-pound girl will be christened Sandra Louise McFarlane. She was born in San Diego hospital and the telegram stated that both baby and mother are doing nicely. Mrs. J. J. Becker, former Santa Ana now living in Pala, is in San Diego to be with her son-in-law and daughter, who have lived in the southern city for the past year.

The Beckers have several grandchildren, but the little Sandra Louise as the first in the McFarlane family, has aroused a world of interest. This was so acute up in the Berkeley home of the Jack McFarlanes, that Mrs. Jack McFarlane declared she was issuing a bulletin, to the effect that "Uncle and baby are both doing well."

Bridal Pantry Supplied With Various Gifts

There will be no lack of tinned goods and pantry supplies in the home so soon to be established by lovely Mary Lou McFarland and Charles Stewart Meese, bride and bridegroom to be on this coming Saturday evening. For Aid society members of First Presbyterian church, which Miss McFarland's father, the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, serves as pastor, took it upon themselves to stock the pantry for the prospective home.

Yesterday afternoon when the society had a social meeting in the church fellowship room, there was a general air of excitement. Mrs. Arthur Ellis as president, disposed of business matters in a scant few minutes, then turned the meeting over to the hostess committee, Mesdames A. J. Beckman, chairman, E. L. Hull, Hiram Curry and Louise Wilson.

To Mrs. Emma Prettyman was delegated the duty of planning a program based on the theme of romance. Her plans were put into effect charmingly by different members. Mrs. Glenn Tidball read an original poem, "Joy to the Bride," written for and dedicated to Miss McFarland. Mrs. Pearl Livezey's soprano solos, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Rhoades, were "Lullaby of the Night," "The Sun" and "Sylvia," and Billy Ward chose the program with several light-hearted accordion solos.

The fellowship room was vivid with pompon dahlias, but the most decorative effect was seen at the fireplace, whose hearth was heaped with be-ribboned packages. Mrs. Ellis informed Miss McFarland that these were gifts for her, and after the happy young couple had opened the packages, she made a gracious little talk of appreciation.

The wedding of the young couple will be at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, in First Presbyterian church, where the Rev. Mr. McFarland will conduct the service uniting his daughter and her fiancé in marriage.

Daniger presented to Mrs. Scott, a be-ribboned package which the guests had left in her care. This proved to contain the daintiest of bed jackets for her future use.

The remainder of the evening was spent at the A. T. Kline home, 1120 North Olive street, where Chinese checkers offered entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. Scott's guests included with the Lee Hunts, Mr. and Mrs. Kline and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robbins.

That series of functions which Mrs. George S. Smith and Mrs. Harry T. Duckett plan as pleasant events of the autumn social season, and which was launched Tuesday with such a delightful bridge luncheon down at Hotel Laguna in Our Village, continued yesterday with a similar luncheon.

For the current functions, they applied an autumnal color scheme that emphasized the shadings of yellow. Guests found the use of olden coxcomb, and quite lovely with yellow rosebuds, sprays of bronze oak leaves, and pompon dahlias, in every hue from pale yellow to orange and gold.

Mrs. Earl Morrow gave assistance in such party details as checking arrivals. Afternoon bridge play was in the big lounge with its outlook on the sea no less arresting than the paintings and art objects strikingly placed. High scores in contract were made by Mrs. Mark Lacy and Mrs. Walter Vandermast, to whom went the pretty prizes tied in tissues and ribbons following the prevailing color theme.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

Place this jewel of a dessert recipe at the top of your list of "company" desserts, but don't keep it exclusively for company. . . . give the family a break once in a while. Sunday would be a good time for this chilled dessert using candied ginger.

Ginger Cream

One envelope of gelatine softened in 1-4 cup cold water before dissolving in one cup hot milk (in double boiler.) Beat two egg yolks with 1-4 cup sugar, stir into hot milk and cook to a thin custard consistency.

Cool the custard and add: Two tablespoons brandy or twice that amount of sherry.

Two tablespoons ginger syrup and 1/4 cup of the preserved ginger cut in thin shreds.

Fold in 2 1/2 cups of whipped cream. — a tested recipe

Pour the ginger cream into a water rinsed mould and chill until wanted.

Of course my provident soul is appalled by all that whipping cream. When I make this dessert, the cream content is halved and the two egg whites beaten stiff, are used to replace the cream. The recipe serves eight very generously.

GARDEN AND HOME

Newcom Garden As Seen From Highway

White pillars of a graceful pergola are glimpsed through the green frame of two great palms, by travelers as they pass the attractive ranch home of R. B. Newcom on West LaVeta avenue, between Santa Ana and Orange. A turn in the road brings the home and grounds into view at the end of a long sweep of deodars, the deodars taking up a border line on the south side of the road where a windbreak of young eucalyptus trees ends. The deep green of the deodars, the many shades of green of the eucalyptus trees, ranging from pale yellow green to green-blues, the fresh green of the lawn and the two great palms with ivy-covered trunks at the front of the lawn combined with feathery masses of shrubs and vines make a beautiful roadside picture.

Orange County Gardening

By MRS. H. CARDOZA SLOAN,
Corona Del Mar

Being sound advice and interesting comment on what to plant and how to care for Orange county gardens.

In these days of strain and distress in which we are living it is a relief to turn our minds to those things which are pure and lovely, and I bring you today this beautiful thought from the Chinese.

"I walked past my neighbor's garden. The young almond tree he had planted in his nuptial year was in blossom. It shimmered as delicately as coral in the bright light. I stared at it for many minutes. When I passed on I found that the gods had planted it in my quiet heart."

"The gods had planted it in my quiet heart." In every heart there are trees planted and flowers blooming, birds singing and quiet waters flowing. In every heart there still sounds the tender music of voices long silenced. Memory is one of the richest gifts God has bestowed upon mankind. And happy is he who follows the old motto so often used on sundials, "I can count only the sunny hours." Forget the sorrows, forget the hurts, let the disappointments and failures fade away. Remember only the beautiful, the good, the lovely. Held thus warm within the heart, nothing we have cherished is ever really lost. Though we can no longer touch or hold it in our hands, it has become a part of our inner life, always there, shining, serene, perfect. "The gods had planted it in my quiet heart."

Fragrant Flowers
I thought my white ginger was not to bloom this year, but one morning this week when I opened the office windows into the garden, a wave of rich, sweet perfume swept in which could come only from the ginger. And sure enough there was a spike of the exquisite white flowers. Anyone who has a clump of ginger will be certain of one brief season of heavenly perfumed air.

And the other night, when I opened the back door to let in the little black kitten who has strayed into our home, I caught another whiff of sweetness—night-blooming jasmine.

Like the kitten, this plant is a stray. I found it growing in a pot of fern in the lath garden. Though very tiny—and no night-blooming jasmine within blocks of the garden—its smooth green leaves reminded me of the countless little plants that had sprung from the fallen berries under our jasmine bush years ago. So I transplanted the little thing into a flower pot, and this spring set it in the back yard at home. I suppose I have some gallant mockingbird to thank for the bush which is now putting forth its tiny greenish flowers and delicious perfume.

There should be a night-blooming jasmine in the yard of every person who likes sweet smells. It makes magic of the evening hours during its blooming season. The bush we had in years gone by grew into a regular tree. It had an unfortunate habit of dying back at the ends of the branches and having grown so tall it was difficult to clip out the dead wood, even with the log-handled clippers.

Needs Little Care
I know a bush which is severely pruned, back to short stubs, every year. It then develops a symmetrical mound of fresh green foliage and blooms profusely. So I think vigorous pruning is indicated for the night-blooming jasmine. Aside from that, it makes no demands. Will grow just about anywhere and needs no coddling.

Another sweet-scented flower, now blooming in my garden, is the Stephanotis. I patiently unwound this vine from a wire trellis upon which it was growing in a pot a year ago and set it in the lath garden. During the year it did practically nothing. But just recently has put forth considerable new growth and a half dozen or more clusters of flowers, lovely in the flowers of waxy texture and rich perfume. There is something clearcut about all the parts of this plant—the shining green of the rounded oblong leaf with its neatly pointed tip, the smooth stems, the white starry flowers with long slender throats. Stephanotis floribunda is a favorite greenhouse pot plant in colder climates but with us can be grown in a slightly protected and grows 15 feet or more. It is subject to scale and mealy bug, but if one remembers and watches the vine carefully there should be no trouble. Its fragrance is delightful, and seems more pronounced toward nightfall.

Another sweet-scented flower, also white, which gives much pleasure in my garden, is that rare thing, a fragrant begonia, Begonia odorata alba. It makes a nice clump about four feet tall, with shining leaves of a medium green color, and has sprays of pretty little white flowers with a delicate, lemon-scented perfume. Very easy to grow and every begonia lover should have one. There is a pink form, odorata rosea, which is not as sturdy a grower but has larger flowers of an enchanting clear pink.

Sweet Scented Fern
One does not think of a fern as having sweet scent. Yet the other day as I held a pot of maiden-hair fern in my hand, and moved its fronds gently with my fingers, I caught a scent so sweet as almost to be called a perfume. Then I went sniffing around among the ferns, and found many of them smelled sweet, some much more than others.

I recalled the hay-scented fern which grew on New England hillsides, its delicate light green fronds crowded around old granite rocks, in little glades among the trees, in patches of open woods, and along little brooks and meadows, and how sweet they smelled in late summer. I remembered long fronds of ferns gathered along the streams above Idyllwild in our Southern California mountains, still moist from the cool, fresh water, and smelling damply sweet.

And I remembered a bit of half-forgotten verse—
"There are thoughts that moan with the song of the pine,
And thoughts in a flowerbell curled,
But the thoughts that are blown with the scent of the fern
Are as new and as old as the world."

So the evidence seems to be that ferns do smell sweet, and since they are believed to be one of the earliest forms of plant life and once to have covered the face of the globe, their faint fragrance may be the first of all the sweet odors which plants and flowers have given off for the joy of mortals.

An automobile first was used for collecting mail in June, 1899, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Through the Garden Gate

With MARAH ADAMS

The Kiwanis Dahlia show brought to a close last night in a blaze of glory places the dahlia where it rightfully belongs this time of year—right in the garden spotlight.

"That the dahlia has such a variety of colors and forms is surprising as the flower is of comparative recent development. Unlike the greater number of garden flowers, it is of American origin coming from Mexico."

The original dahlia is called "Dahlia Rosea." It grows wild in the high altitudes of Mexico. According to history the dahlia was grown in Mexican gardens, and hybrid varieties developed, before the coming of the Spaniards in 1519.

The first record of the dahlia in Europe is found in Spain where it was placed in a botanical garden in 1791 by Dr. Andreas Dahl, a Swedish naturalist, for whom it was named. The Mexican name for the flower is "Acocotli," which means "water pipe."

In a "Chatterbox" for 1911, a book published yearly in England, and very popular with the boys and girls of the '90's and later, a short history of the dahlia is given. Here it is stated that Dr. Dahl took the dahlia to France where he hoped to cultivate the tubers for food. The French, however, did not like the slightly acid flavor of the dahlia and the experiment was abandoned.

New soil and climate of Europe caused the dahlia to break into new forms and for a time the "ball" type was the most popular. After growers tired of the ball type a new variety appeared without the aid of man when Nature suddenly and without any effort created what since has been called the cactus dahlia.

An interesting bit of history is connected with the origin of the cactus dahlia. The tuber which produced the new variety was the only surviving plant in a shipment of plants from Mexico to Holland. The tuber was planted and to the surprise of the grower produced a scarlet bloom with pointed petals. The flower immediately caught the fancy of growers.

The American hybridizer is said to have contributed more to the development of the dahlia than grow-

FOR FRAGRANCE PLANT 10 WEEK STOCK IN FLATS

A garden filling the evening air with spicy fragrance is doubly appealing. Excellent for bedding, cutting, unsurpassed in its perfume is the 10 weeks stock.

Sow the seed in flats, covering with leaf mold or some other light material to the depth of about twice the breadth of the seed. Sow the seed thinly so that enough soil may be taken with the plant when it is transplanted. The seedlings may be set outside when the second or third set of true leaves appear.

Plant in Mass
Set them in the sun, in well drained soil and where you will not be tempted to overwater them. Planted in double rows about 20 inches apart and the plants 12 or 15 inches apart, they will support each other and produce a mass of fine flowers.

One Pasadena gardener is making a border in a small garden of three parallel rows, one each of pink, white and yellow and edging the stock with violets.

When transplanting, take them as they come. Some of the spindling seedlings turn out to have the largest double flowers.

It is a good idea to grow some reserve plants to have a supply for replacing the single-flower ones or weaker plants when they appear in the beds.

May Need Lime
Difficulty in growing stock may be due to lack of lime in the soil. When the stock bed gives thick bunches of foliage but no flowers, lime is being demanded by the plant.

If you think your soil is lacking lime spade in some hydrated lime before planting the stock. Lay a thick coat over the surface and spade it into the top soil. Give another dressing a month or six weeks later.

The dwarf German 10 weeks stock, the Bismarck and the newer column stocks are favorite kinds in local gardens.

SO MANY LOVELY THINGS

So many lovely things are grey,
Old ruins; new white poplar leaves;
Clouds near the moon and dew on grass;
The silver web a spider weaves.

So many lovely things are grey;
A forest veiled in evening mist;
The curling smoke when bonfires burn
And birch bark that the sun has kissed.

So many lovely things are grey;
The wings of doves; a Cotswold wall;
But lichen on an old garbled tree
Perhaps is loveliest of all.

—Mary Vivian in
"Good Gardening," an English Publication.

ers of all other countries combined. Like stamp collectors, dahlia growers are of all classes, rich and poor, women and men.

That men in this country are more interested in dahlia culture than in the culture of any other flower is a well established fact. Seedlings may be any form or any color and this lure of the unexpected is one of the delights of growing dahlias from seeds.

Not long ago a survey was made of one building on Wall street, New York City, in an effort to tabulate the hobbies of men in its offices. Here it was found that in this single building there were 100 men who were dahlia hobbyists. It is said more flower shows are built around the dahlia than around any other bloom.

Or it may be that men imbued with a pioneer spirit as nearly all men are, especially like traveling along the road that leads to new frontiers in development of the dahlia. Again the dahlia is not an easily grown flower, anything that appeals to the masculine sense of accomplishment, to work against odds.

If the dahlia growing wild in Mexico could have attended the Kiwanis Dahlia show, the modest flower would have been amazed. Indeed, this wild dahlia has eight petals and usually grows on volcanic soil where the ground has enough moisture to last during dry periods. In October and November the plant dies down. The dahlia tuber is said to be not really a tuber, but a tuberous root.

SERIAL STORY

HIT-RUN LOVE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN
COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Larry's despicable trick kills Pat's love. Tom tells her he loves her. She visits to the hospital shows Pat her course, clear of shadows.

CHAPTER XIV
AS she went to bed that night Larry prepared herself for the next morning. It would be the most important one in her life. She hoped she could sleep and in sleep forget for a little while. She brushed the soft dark hair from her face and looked at the shadows under her eyes. How was one to know which code to follow?

Love was supposed to surmount all obstacles. She knew what Larry would feel after her attitude was made obvious. But her love for him was dead. How would Tom feel when he realized that she was turning on the man she had planned to marry? Would a doubt remain in his own heart as to the quality of her love? If she could turn on one man could she turn on another? Would there be doubt in his own mind after this? And yet she would be doing the only just and honest thing there was to do.

At court she watched for Larry. He was there early, sitting beside Church and smiling with a confident air.

Big Jimmy Burke waited for court to begin, hitched his gun holster up around his waist and sat down in the witness chair near Pat. "Well, the young man looks happy," he said. "And it's too bad for Tom. Something about this case doesn't smell good. I've a hunch the boy's guilty, but he's built up a fine case."

The girl nodded waiting for a chance to signal Larry. She finally caught his glance, nodded to the corridor and went out. He followed her.

"Larry—this has gone too far, I've made up my mind to take the stand if you insist. I don't want to, and I'm giving you time to make other plans."

He interrupted with his old familiar cool, unruffled smile. "I don't have to make other plans, Pat. The case is in the bag. I'm as good as free now."

"No, Larry. You'll never be free. That's what you must see. What if you did win this case? You'd always know in your heart that you were guilty. And I have something more to say. Either you go back in there and tell Church you are going to change your plea to guilty, or I'll tell the truth."

"I'm not going to let an injustice be done here, Larry. You've killed the love I had for you. It's all gone, but you're not going to kill my code of morals. That's something I have to live with all the rest of my life. I'm going to tell the truth unless you go in there now and enter a plea of guilty. I've given you every chance I could. I begged you to tell the judge the facts, rely on the mercy of the court. You could have explained that you were completely upset and didn't know what you were doing when you ran away. But instead you plan on climaxing this case by taking the stand and committing perjury if necessary to free yourself. That's why I'm stepping in now."

"You wouldn't dare." His voice now held a note of unbelief. "You couldn't."

SHE didn't answer, but met his gaze as coldly as though he were a stranger. "You'll make a fool of yourself. You've sat in there during this whole thing, taken down testimony and kept quiet. You can't do anything now. What a spectacle you'd make of yourself." He laughed. "The reporters wouldn't even bother with me after that. You'd be a much better story. I suppose, though, that you've thought of all that."

She hadn't. Those possibilities had never entered her mind. Now they slapped her in the face and made her reel with the frightfulness of it all. Of course, she would be made to look ridiculous.

Larry seized his advantage. "Yes, it will be an interesting climax," he said. "I think now it's time we went back. We may be holding up proceedings."

She never knew how she found her way back to her table. The room swam in a gray mist, faces staring out queerly disconnected, seemingly hanging in space like the Cheshire Cat when he faded away in Wonderland.

PAT felt as though she were in a dream, and then she turned dazed and uncomprehending as Church came over and touched her arm.

"Where's your brother, Miss McGraw? We have him for a witness, you know? Can you get him right away?"

She looked up at him. "My brother—?"

"Yes, we don't want to delay this case."

"No—of course not." She felt cold, icy, drenched in a freezing fire. But facts stood out clearly. "He won't be here unless you insist," she said slowly, conscious that Tom was looking at her, that Larry's eyes were on her, that his lips were smiling confidently. He was still gambling, still sure of her.

"Of course we insist," Church said annoyed. "Good heavens, you work here. You know court procedure."

"Too well," she said. "If he comes he tells the truth, you understand."

The man's eyes narrowed. "That's what we want. The truth can't hurt us."

Pat studied him for another long second. "I see now that you believe in your client, Mr. Church. Apparently he hasn't taken you as much in his confidence as he has me. My brother, you see, didn't go near Larry's car that evening. He knows nothing about it. Larry may have told you differently. I'm telling you the real fact. My brother will not come down here and lie. That's why he isn't here now. He can't help your case."

Church half-turned toward Larry. "I don't understand this at all. My client is your fiancé; surely you want to help him—"

"He was my fiancé," she corrected gently, "but not now. I can't stand by a man who is guilty and who is willing to ask my brother to lie to prove his innocence."

THE gray mist swirled around the court again. Voices came from a great distance, welled and faded, and Larry's smile stood out, only it was no longer a smile, but a frightened twist of the lips.

Someone's arm was around her, someone was carrying her into the judge's chamber. She tasted water, felt the coolness of fresh air stream through an open window upon her face.

"I've been a coward," she said. "But I have to finish this now. I waited as long as I could. I thought some sort of miracle would happen. Right up to the end I thought Larry would do the right thing. But he failed me. He's guilty. You see he told me the truth. Told me the truth himself, and thought I loved him so much I would be willing to carry through his lie."

Church turned toward a chair and sat down like a marionette pulled suddenly by strings. His shocked face turned toward Tom. "It's all news to me, Sweeney, I give you my word. I thought he told me everything. I thought he had the case won. I was even willing to put him on the stand if necessary. Give me time to straighten all this out—"

Tom nodded. "Sure—but make him understand he's going to have some explaining to do. If necessary the court can put this new witness on the stand."

Pat felt weighed down with unnumbered bonds. She wanted to look at Tom, but fear of what she would read in his eyes made her hide her face in her trembling hands.

Thrip Treatment For Corms Is Told

To protect gladiolus corms from thrip store them with naphthalene flakes. Use an ounce or a good handful of the flakes for every 100 medium sized corms. Howard L. McKenzie, University of California entomologist says when the corms are in trays, the flakes should be sprinkled among them.

The trays should be covered with a light canvas or wrapping paper. The corms may also be placed in paper bags the tops of which are then folded over a tightly to keep inside the bag the fumes from the flakes.

At temperatures of 60 and 70 degrees, the flakes should remain with the corms at least three weeks. At lower temperatures, they should remain together four or five weeks. An exposure of two or three months will do no harm, Mr. McKenzie says. The flakes, however, should be removed every two weeks. Do not store corms in a covered tin can lest they be induced to sprout too soon.

MAGAZINE TELLS OF GARDENING IN ENGLAND

Members of garden sections of Newport Ebell and Orange Woman's club at a joint meeting at Orange this week enjoyed looking at an English garden magazine brought from London recently by Mrs. Henry Meier, East Chapman avenue, on her return from a trip around the world. The magazine was presented to the president of the Orange group, Mrs. Vernon Shippee.

The magazine has a very similar appearance to the best American magazines devoted to gardening. Gardens on large estates are pictured on many of the pages and two beautiful colored flower pictures center the publication. Many of the gardens look much like American gardens with cobble stone walls and seats and sundials.

In one article on sun dials Charles Lamb is quoted as saying that sun dials are such ancient garden ornaments that he is convinced Adam must have had one in Paradise.

DRIVE CAREFULLY SAVE A LIFE

TAKES PLATFORM SERIOUSLY

Culbert Olson, when he spoke at Birch Park before the Primary, said he took his platform seriously.

This is one of the finest statements we ever heard made by a politician, if it be true. And the test, to our notion, as to whether a man takes his platform seriously is whether he deals in generalities or whether he will answer specific questions and not hedge.

Mr. Olson said that he believed the farmer should get cost for his product plus a fair profit; that men should be paid a minimum wage; that all should have a competent pension.

This is fine if there is some way of doing it without taking these comforts of life from another. And if Mr. Olson has any way of taxing people without doing as President Roosevelt said is done, that "all taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors," his platform is fine. But if it is necessary to take the comforts from one man to give to another in order to do these desired things that Mr. Culbert Olson says he takes seriously, then we would be glad to have Mr. Olson inform us how this would be of benefit to all the people permanently.

We would be glad to have Mr. Olson explain how collective bargaining can raise the standard of living permanently of all workers, which he advocates.

If Mr. Olson does not have time to explain how his platform can be worked in detail, we would be glad to have him delegate his authority to some of his spokesmen who so strongly advocate his election to answer these questions for him.

And if Mr. Olson is taking his platform seriously, he certainly will be glad to answer these questions. The columns of this newspaper are open free to the answering of these questions, but not for him to make promises without specific details as to how they are expected to be accomplished.

"I AM NOT SELFISH"

In conversation the other day with a man who occupies a position in one of the public colleges, he made the statement, "I am not selfish."

Yet he insists that the voting majority has a right to coerce and compel those who do not agree with his ideas of what will be for the general welfare, to contribute by taxation, direct and indirect, to pay this individual's salary to influence the lives of the youth.

He is not willing to use his influence and sell his services to those who are voluntarily willing to pay, but he wants it done by the force of the majority on the minority.

The desire to stamp your personality and your ideas on the innocent people at the expense of others, it would seem is infinitely more selfish than the man who respects other people's rights and demands of no one that they contribute to his salary or his support, unless they do it absolutely voluntarily and without the force of a dictator or the force of the majority.

We have a very strange idea of selfishness. Some people who want to dominate the world by ideas, have the conception that selfishness only means material things. Because an individual is perfectly willing to accept by force compensation for his salary and desires to stamp his personalities and his ideas on others and have others pay for it, it is not reasonable to conclude that this kind of selfishness is infinitely more dangerous than what is usually regarded as selfish—the accumulation of material things?

In fact, this kind of selfishness, which is the most cowardly, is largely responsible for the United States now being in the worst condition it has been in, in the lifetime of any living man.

So, the next time you hear a man say he is not selfish, look through his mask and determine his real aspirations and his real motives as to whether he believes in freedom of the individual to influence people by his own efforts or by coercion, either by the majority or by a dictator. If he does it by coercion he is certainly selfish.

REGULATION OF POUNDS

Initiative No. 2 is for the purpose of regulating the duties of poundmasters; prohibits the sale, surrender or use of unwanted or unclaimed animals in pounds for scientific, medical, experimental, demonstration or commercial purposes.

It seems that this initiative would stand in the way of scientific experiments and would not necessarily add to the humane treatment of animals. The issue is opposed by such men as Rufus B. Von Klein Smid, President, University of Southern California, and Lyman Wilbur, President of Stanford University, together with Dr. P. K. Gilman, who have written the arguments against its passage.

We believe the amendment should be defeated by voting "No" on the question.

McADOO APPOINTED

The appointment of McAdoo to President of the Dollar Steamship Company which the government has financed indicates how the government is making a place for more and more of those boosting the administration.

McAdoo practically wrecked the railroads and now that the government has so failed to defend the rights of men to work, when work was offered, they have wrecked the steamship companies so this branch has to be subsidized by the Federal Government and even managed by them.

If we measure McAdoo's success on the basis that he was successful in managing the railroads, it certainly will be too bad for the citizens who have to pay the bill for McAdoo's mismanagement.

EUROPE IS FACED WITH A WAR OF EXTERMINATION (Sacramento Bee)

Military experts are in full accord that if another general war does come in Europe its most frightful effects will be felt by the civilian populations behind the lines.

What has happened in Barcelona and Madrid in Spain or Hankow and Shanghai in China is likely to be almost insignificant to what may occur in such crowded cities as London, Paris, Berlin or Brussels should the peace negotiations break down and the great powers loose their destructive swarms of war

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

"CHARTING MONOPOLY—THE BERLE ANALYSIS OF BUSINESS"

Adolf A. Berle, Jr., was appointed by the President as an Assistant Secretary of the State and adviser on economic subjects.

He has just written a report on the committee and appropriation established to investigate monopolies. Since he has written the report, he has resigned and is now assuming his duties at Harvard.

The reading of more than two pages of the report brings up questions I would like to ask Mr. Berle.

I must give him credit with a couple of wise statements in the report, however. He says, a study of these economic questions will solve certain illusions which now confront national thinking. "We know in advance that the present productivity of industry, which is so highly regarded and so often praised, is not, in fact, sufficient to meet the aggregate of 'legitimate claims' made against it by labor, by consumers, possibly also by investors, in many instances. But this fact is rarely appreciated."

Another thought that I had never so definitely had called to my attention as Mr. Berle called it, was that the capital gains tax and the real putting into effect of the ability-to-pay tax theory makes it impossible for the little business to grow and easier for the big business to stay big. I quote: "What was not realized was the fact that a high undistributed surplus tax, though it retarded growth of existing large corporations, gave them a perpetual franchise, not only to stay large, but to be the only large corporations in existence."

"No small business could grow up to a point where it could give its larger competitors any real battle. In consequence, every small business was in danger far more than the large; and knew it; which was the real reason for the revolt and ultimate modification of the tax. Arithmetically, there could be no other result."

It would seem, his most serious error in reasoning and one that is commonly held by college professors and many reformers who only egg-on and generalize, is the intimation that inventions are suppressed by large corporations.

It is just as reasonable to assume that a corporation would suppress an invention that would really benefit its customers, as to assume that any man can do anything that he believes is against his interest. And if no man cannot possibly do anything against his own interest, (which is contrary to life itself), then any corporation that had an invention and believe it would benefit it by using it, must of necessity use this invention. Of course, the corporation head might be lazy and inefficient and have poor judgment but if it strongly believed it was beneficial and would produce more wealth than it cost, it would be impossible for the executive to contradict this fundamental law of life.

CONTINUANCE OF PRIVATE ENTERPRISE VERSUS GOVERNMENT

As we are rapidly adding to the functions of the government, it is well to remember the primary difference between private business and government business is the difference in the way private business and government business are continued.

When there is no need for private enterprise, it ceases to exist. It is impossible for it to continue if there is no need for it. Daily there are new trades and new companies established. If they supply some existing public want, they take root and grow; if they do not, they die of lack of nourishment. It needs no act of the United States government nor any of its political subdivisions to put them down. Moreover, many of these new government instrumentalities continue to flourish for generations after they have become abominations.

This difference that private business ceases to function when it is not needed and that public instrumentalities and agencies continue year after year when their original functions have ceased, is a very strong reason why everything that possibly can be done by private enterprise should be done in that manner rather than by public institutions.

birds loaded with hundreds of tons of high explosives.

The world stood aghast when Japanese airmen murdered more than 10,000 innocent Chinese civilians in a single raid. But the European powers have many more planes and high explosives than Japan and their airmen are probably much better marksmen.

Russia, for example, is reported to have a force of more than 4,000 fighting planes many of them huge bombers capable of carrying many tons of explosives. Every other major power has been building planes feverishly for a decade.

Major Al Williams, an American airplane expert, declares in a series of articles that air raid defenses thus far perfected are pitiful. Bombers can fly at speeds up to 175 miles an hour, he says. They can hit a target with amazing accuracy at altitudes far above the range of anti aircraft guns. Bombs have been perfected, he avers that will kill persons taking cover in the deepest shelters. Incendiary bombs have been devised to start fires impossible to control.

The same authority says, moreover, that every European airman takes for granted that the next war will be one of extermination visited on armed forces and defenseless women and children alike and is trained to regard such a conflict as inevitable.

How frightful to contemplate such a picture! Will Europe, goaded by racial prejudices and ancient hatreds, thus emulate the savagery of the Huns and Vandals and rush into suicide?

Or will the good sense of her statesmen and her masses prevail to save her from the machinations of her psychopathic dictators?

The course of all civilization may hang on what happens in Europe within the next few days.

BY BENJAMIN DE CASSERES (Los Angeles Examiner)

The "SOFTIES" in the American red front are probably the most dangerous of all Communists. They are those pseudo-intellectual sentimentalists who go through life with a squishy mind supporting everything that is labeled "Justice," "Brotherhood of Man," "Uplift," etc.

They sprout a pacifist wing from one shoulder and a wing marked "Internationalism" from the other. They, themselves, never fight, and never intend to. They belong to the we-egg-'em-on phalanx.

They are more dangerous to America than the forthright red soapbox brawler, because their squishiness, their flabbiness, their cozy smiles disarm—and breed more softies.

To make a nation of "socially minded softies" is a part of the strategy of the hard-boiled and ruthless subverters who order things from Moscow.

HOURS, WAGES, RETIREMENT

Fellow Citizens: Taking the question of hours, wages and retirement, much can and will be said about maximum hours per week, minimum wages per hour, and retirement age from labor, neither one of which should be associated with political activities.

I want to express my belief briefly, after some 40 years dealing with labor in and out of factory, covering work of wood, marble and metal.

I believe in a Federal law—without state lines—regulating maximum hours per week, and minimum wages per hour, covering all labor.

I believe in a Federal law—without state lines—retiring all persons 60 years old and over, with a retirement pension, if they care to retire at that age and can qualify.

For labor, I believe in the open shop, the right of employer to employ whom he chooses, and the right of employee to work where he chooses.

I believe in organized labor, but not to the extent of any labor organization dictating to either employer or employee as to what he or they shall or shall not do. I believe it should be the right of the employer and his (or her) employees to bargain among themselves in any way they choose, or to form organizations for their mutual benefit, and that same shall be free from any outside so-called sympathetic interferences.

I believe a profit-sharing wage dividend between employer and his (or her) employees would tend to lessen strikes. A strike would tie up production, cutting down the employees' wage dividends. To work in harmony would mean a higher standard of living for employees.

I believe that all labor can be kept fully and regularly employed by shortening the maximum hours per week, as manual labor or labor-saving machines might have to do with producing beyond the natural law of supply and demand.

For example let us consider four hour and wage schedules to be known as schedule A-B-C and D:

Schedule A, 8 hours per day, 48 hours per week maximum; schedule B, 8 hours per day, 40 hours per week maximum; schedule C, 7 hours per day, 35 hours per week maximum; schedule D, 6 hours per day, 30 hours per week maximum.

Schedule A, wage, 25 cents per hour minimum; schedule B, wage 30 cents per hour minimum; schedule C, wage 35 cents per hour minimum; schedule D, 40 cents per hour minimum.

As maximum hours per week shorten, the minimum wage per hour will increase, letting the weekly wage remain practically the same. I believe there should be an arbitrary hourly wage scale covering labor classified as semi-skilled labor, and skilled labor. For semi-skilled labor, two times the minimum hourly wage; and for skilled labor, three times the minimum hourly wage. It should be optional with employer to pay any wage he chooses over and above either minimum or arbitrary hourly wage. The employee could be paid according to his (or her) ability to produce for one universal law covering hours and wages of labor, and one universal law covering old-age retirement pension—both national—instead of 48 different state laws, which create confusion, unfair practices, unfair competition, in business and industry, and thousands of unnecessary political jobs, for which the taxpayer must foot the bills.

The above is just a one man's views.

J. A. AUKERMAN, Santa Ana, California.

Fellow Citizens: Just a few comments on these pension plans. If a newspaper differs with their theories, it is a subsidized press.

If a banker differs, it is the money lenders trying to kill the plan. If a business man differs, it is the entrenched profit grabbers.

If a plain common-sense citizen differs, he doesn't understand it and does not care if the aged are in want.

These are but a small sample of the charges—there is not space in the Register to quote them all.

It seems that a great crime is being committed if a private industry or business interest does a little lobby work for existence. But an organized raid by pension demanders may use any and all types of coercion tactics and call it fair and honest. The juggling with figures by Mr. Thomas reads like calculations in light years to some distant star or the old story of the cat and rat farm. Whenever I read the harping on how the working man is footing all the tax bill and monopolistic groups are living at the expense of the poor workers, it smacks of socialist soap-box talk and it's dollars to doughnuts that no socialist country is paying the old folks $200 per month, or has a $30 per week gift on its calendar. Besides—using their argument, "if the worker pays for all the non productive organizations" why will he not have to bear the expense of any newly created non producing class that expects to exist on taxation?

Why is it we are prone to follow the will-of-wisp theories of some dreamer and condemn the solid common sense of men that prove their ability and judgment by their accomplishments?

Not one of our present day political would-be rejuvenators can point to any practical experience, but they thrive on the dogma of parasitical doctrines, which is so appealing to a large class of voters now looking for the easy road to luxury.

I agree with these advocates when they call attention to our tremendous tax load, but I do not find myself in accord with a promise to do away with this burden by a new and untried scheme. We were not told that the present sales tax would produce the financing of our schools? Was it not shouted from the house tops that repeal and tax on liquor would reduce taxation and prevent crime? In every case of tax reduction promise, has not our faith been shattered by new tax demands? We have a right to view with alarm these fantastic panaceas which are more to blame for depression and unemployment than any other cause.

The state of Colorado now has a tax set-up very much on the order of the advocated transaction tax, it was voted to meet their old age pension allowance, but their pension plan is in a jittery condition and it has taken more from business than it has put back, so where is the idea that it is a great business stimulator? Besides, the regular tax rate has gone up on all property.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—War scare has had less effect on domestic business than the stock market would indicate.

Behind timid stock prices, industrial production is now again surging upward. Latest official guess is that this key index figure will hit 92 for September (it was 88 last month, 82 the month before.)

Officials here further expect another 3 point increase (or more) in October, and a very slight reaction below 95 for November and December—if the gods of war will wait.

Their expectation is based on the solid fact that the improvement since May (76) has been going on steadily without help from the nation's No. 2 industry—motors.

Auto manufacturers are only now getting into new model assembling. Their activity will hit a peak in October, continue certainly through November and possibly December, before they stop to figure the spring sales market and plan further production.

Influence of public works spending also began to be noticed only recently, and will certainly continue to increase (in the matter of actual contracts for work awarded.) Peak of this activity is expected in spring.

So with steel already at 50 percent, and its two largest customers, autos and building, just getting started, Mr. Roosevelt's advisers cannot see anything ahead but improvement, in the normal course of events.

Note: New auto models will go sharply different zephyr-like body designs, as you probably have heard. Only one car is holding out against the trend. Another large low-priced car manufacturer is supposed to be adding a new car in $1000 (approximately) price field.

Government figures show the gradual and well-balanced nature of the five months improvement so far, in the following chart. Each figure represents a percentage of normal with normal (100) being the average years 1923, 24 and 25. Each index (except employment and payroll) is adjusted for seasonal variations.

	Industrial Production	Factory Employment	Factory Payrolls	Freight Car Loadings	Dept. Store Sales	Building Contracts
Average 1929	119	104.7	109.1	107	111	117
Average 1932	64	65.5	46.4	55	69	28
Average 1937	110	95.3	98	78	93	59
May 1938	76	75.5	69.2	78	79	61
June	77	76.1	67.0	78	82	64
July	82	77.6	67.5	81	83	59
Aug.	88	79.5	73.0	82	83	70
Sept. (Est'd)	92	82	76.5	84	84	65

Bulge in building represents increased private activity as well as public ownership work. The Dodge figures show both the public and private work is nearly double last year; public was $171 millions for August compared with $92 millions last year; private $142 millions compared with $76 millions last year.

The rail strike may not be as dangerous as it sounds in state-ments by the opposing sides. Both may be doing a little propagandizing for public interest and support.

Nothing got out about that conference of the executives and labor leaders at the White House recently, but the executives certainly found out what side the president was on. He talked tough to them, urging them to come around to renewal of the existing wage scale.

Execs, begged off by saying they would have to consult the whole industry before they could promise anything like that.

The result you already know. They decided to stand firm for a cut.

ported wisdom, make many unchallenged statements and charges, quoting them as fact. Had these apostles half the infallibility they claim for their most positive views, their sagacity would long ago have placed them as the distributors of pensions instead of just advocating them.

There was asked for a better suggestion. Yes! don't rock the boat of the present state pension plan, instead of ham and eggs you might spill the beans.

W. H. CROCKER (P. S.: I am not running for any office.)

Labor's inside prospect of maintaining a strike may not be as good as the strength of the big four brotherhoods would suggest.

Between 500,000 and 750,000 experienced rail employees have been laid off during the depression.

Management would certainly try to get these to break any strike, and might.

Mr. Roosevelt was proud of his fact-finding commission. It has fairness and integrity, which is something these days. Chief

Justice Stacy of the North Carolina

Supreme court has had long experience as a railroad mediator.

Dean James Landis of Harvard

Law school is a common-sense liberal. While the Chicago university economist Harry Mills is less well known than the other two, he rates with them.

Judicial fact-finding is all that is expected from them.

It is at least a two to one bet

among those who know railroads best here that there will be no strike.

The same odds prevail in expectation that nothing whatever will be done until after the November election.

Then a sincere effort will be made probably by both sides to compromise. Most authorities expect them to get together possibly on a seven or eight per cent tentative cut under some arrangement which will preserve the base pay rate for the future. This would wipe out increases granted last year and save the roads about $150 millions a year.

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs

The Deadly Blight of War

By HARLEY L. LUTZ

Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

(Special correspondence)

Paris, France: The public finances of all nations have two things in common. These are: (1) steadily increasing expenditure on armament, and

(2) steadily increasing expenditure for social welfare.

The growth of total payments for each of these purposes has been the outstanding fact in the financial history of every country during the last half-century. It is no exaggeration to say that every national budget is today dominated by the burden of armament plus the burden of social welfare. And it is correct also to say that in the welfare category a steadily increasing importance must be assigned to the expenditures for various kinds of relief and assistance to individuals and economic groups that formerly required no state help.

Thinking about these two main categories of governmental cost has ordinarily been too superficial. We have usually judged each by itself apart from the other, and we have been inclined to regard the welfare expenditure as an indication of social advance. In fact, the sole test of the fitness of candidates for public office today is their attitude toward larger public expenditures. They are "progressive" only in so far as they are "liberal," and unfortunately the word "liberal" has come to have almost exclusively a financial connotation. A man is a liberal today, only if he favors free and lavish spending, especially for relief purposes.

When the Jewish subject is considered without emotion an underlying connection is perceived that is seldom recognized and almost never admitted. The steady increase of wasteful armament expenditure is an important factor in creating those conditions which make large relief expenditures necessary. It is not the sole cause, but its contributory influence is greater than is commonly supposed.

Any kind of wasteful activity would produce a similar result, but war and the preparation for war are the outstanding case of conspicuous public waste. The present condition was produced, over the past generation, first, by the pre-war armament race; second, by the terrible destruction of wealth during the war; and third, by the inauguration of an even more frantic and wasteful armament program. During this serious period the need for social relief became more apparent and more urgent. Surely the connection is more than accidental.

Armament production causes for the time an appearance of prosperity, but it is only temporary. Like every lesser form of waste the manufacture of war materials means a complete sterilization of wealth and of the proper category of steadily increasing expenditure must be assigned to the expenditures for various kinds of relief and assistance to individuals and economic groups that formerly required no state help.
